Elected Officials Pay Increase Before Senate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Senate Ways and Means Committee added its approval Thursday to a House measure that provides pay raises averaging 34 per cent for elected county officials in Ohio.

However, the panel deleted a key provision that would have built in future cost of living increases—annually each year from 1978 to until 1984—and circumvented an existing prohibition against elected officials receiving pay increases during their terms of office.

The bill now goes to the Senate Rules Committee for assignment to a Senate floor vote, probably early next week when the full legislature returns from summer recess.

Because of Senate committee amendments, the bill by Rep. Frederick H. Deering, D-84 Monroeville, would then go back to the House for its further consideration.

The prohibition against term increases means the bill would have to be in effect in January for the county officers elected or re-elected in that year to qualify for the higher salaries in their new, four-year terms.

Deering's bill would give increases to all county officials except county auditors and one of the three commissioners in each county whose four-year terms expire midway in U.S. presidential terms. All other officers are elected in presidential years. Auditors were voted a pay boost in 1975. The solo commissioners would have to wait until 1978 to benefit from the pending bill.

Amounts of the increases vary from county to county based on population, but average out as follows: treasurer, from $12,649 to $15,588; sheriff, $11,811 to $16,349; clerk of courts, $12,639 to $15,588; commissioner, $9,201 to $12,057; recorder, $11,531 to $14,659; engineer, $17,510 to $21,520, coroner, $6,480 to $9,997, and prosecutor, $11,805 to $22,315.

State Solons Study Major Bills

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Hearings have started before the Senate Ways and Means Committee on bills that will draw major attention at next week's late summer clean up session of the legislature.

The committee recommended one for passage Thursday—a House-approved measure that contains pay increases for most of the elected county officials throughout the state. The increases would average about 34 per cent, but would be the first in four years.

Otherwise, in advance of the full legislature's return next Tuesday, the Senate panel heard testimony on measures which assertedly could preclude pending utility rate hikes, give an economic boost to the state's inner cities, and permit the state to adopt new capital construction programs by permanently earmarking a portion of its revenues for that purpose.

Across the Statehouse, the House Finance Committee has been considering another major bill that holds promise of a solution to at least part of Ohio's highly publicized Medicaid funding problem. It is expected to be readied for floor action in that chamber no later than Wednesday.

A spokesman for Toledo Edison Co. urged defeat of the Senate measure which would let the Public Utilities Commission discount inflationary increases in the rate base used to determine the size of Ohioans' utility bills. He said it would discriminate against his company.

Sen. John T. McCormack, D-13 Euclid, introduced the bill to overcome a recent Ohio Supreme Court decision which disallowed the discounts. The decision had the effect of granting $187 million worth of rate increases, the largest of which, $104 million, went to Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co., adding about $5 a month to the average residential bill.

McCormack said his legislation would permit the commission to make the discounts for inflation in an estimated $450 million worth of other rate hike requests still being studied. Toledo Edison's request for a $24 million annual hike is among those pending.

Paul M. Smart, vice president of the utility, told the committee the legislation would discriminate against Toledo Edison by denying it any increase "at the same time companies with higher rates were being granted increases."

China Mourns Mao; Leadership Vacant

TOKYO (AP) — In deep mourning over the death of Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung, China began today to pay somber tribute to the man whose loss leaves the world's most populous country without a leader worthy of his mantle.

A struggle for power appeared inevitable among the radicals and moderates who have been jockeying for leadership since Mao's health began an obvious decline earlier this year. He died Wednesday at age 82. The Peking government has not disclosed the cause of death.

The central committee of the Chinese Communist party issued an appeal for unity, and reports from China indicated the people were calm as they mourned their revolutionary leader.

"All papers devoted the entire front page to a huge portrait of Chairman Mao Tse-tung bordered in black," the official Hsinhua news agency said today in a broadcast monitored here. It said newspapers used the banner headline: "Eternal glory to our great leader and teacher Chairman Mao Tse-tung."

Peking residents contacted by telephone said flags were at half-staff through the capital, nearly everyone was wearing a black armband, some people wept and large crowds gathered in the huge Tien An Men Square to put white flowers at a monument.

Written on the monument are Mao's words: "The heroes of the people are immortal."

"Peking is somber," one resident said by telephone, "but things are very much normal aside from what you would expect for the mourning of the chairman."

"People have severe expressions on their faces," a second resident said, "but there is no high emotion. We're all impressed by the calm atmosphere."

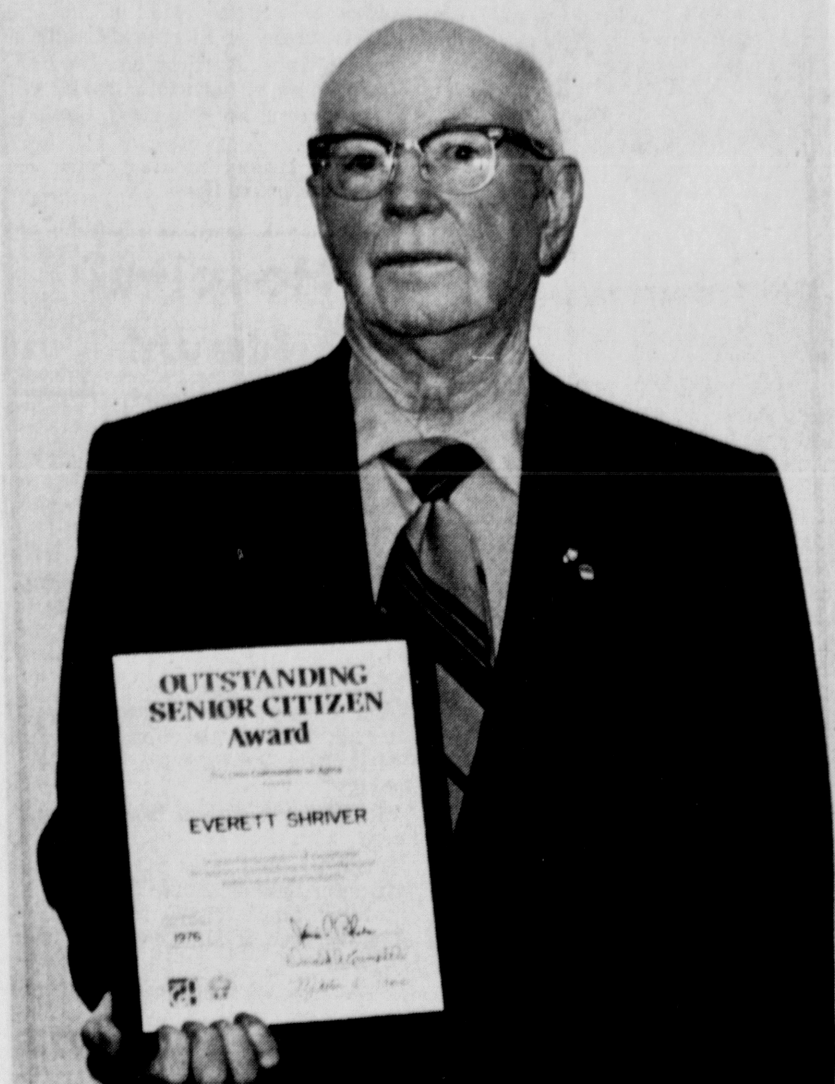

Chinese broadcasts were devoted to Mao's passing. A resident said the broadcasts told listeners to turn their grief into strength, to follow Mao's will to build a socialist system in China and to continue efforts for unity.

The Japanese newspaper Asahi quoted an aged Chinese as saying, "The most sorrowful moment has come. We have lost Chairman Mao, Premier Chou En-lai and Marshal Chu Teh in one year. This year is the saddest for our country since its foundation."

Mao's body will lie in state in Peking's Great Hall of the People beginning Saturday. The mourning period will last until a memorial rally Sept. 18. The Hsinhua news agency said no foreign dignitaries would be invited. Press coverage thus will come from the official Chinese media and the few foreign reporters permitted to work in China.

For the time being, Premier Hua Kuo-feng, 57, retains the role assigned to him after the death of Chou En-lai last January, that of a compromise leader between the radicals and moderates.

The Mao funeral committee, announced Thursday night, was headed by four men — Hua; Wang Hung-wen, the Shanghai "boy wonder" raised by Mao from the factory assembly line to a party vice chairmanship; Chang Chun-chiao, first vice premier and member of the Politburo standing committee, and Yeh Chien-ying, defense minister, party vice chairman and an old Chou crony.

EVERETT J. SHRIVER

Everett J. Shriver, 77, was named Outstanding Senior Citizen of Pickaway County at the 1976 Ohio State Fair.

He has been president of the Ashville Senior Citizens' Club since its inception, has worked diligently to help the club, senior citizens' projects and the community. He has served as a delegate on the Advisory Council of Central Ohio Area Agency of Area 6 for two terms. He is a member of Pickaway Council on Aging, Inc. for the past three years and is an elected trustee of this organization.

Shriver and his wife, Clara, came to the Ashville area 20 years ago. He worked under Civil Service on construction in many places including Panama and Hawaii and retired from Lockbourne Air Force Base.

Each year Shriver is active in the 4th of July celebration in Ashville and last spring assisted with the patriotic musical at Teays Valley High School held to raise funds to help save the old Railroad Station and use it for a community building.

Mr. and Mrs. Shriver are the parents of two sons and they have eight grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Cigarette Said Cause Of School Fire

Fire, blamed on a carelessly discarded cigarette in the teacher's lounge, burned most of the night in the Ashville Elementary School.

However, heavy locked doors kept the blaze from spreading throughout the building.

School was held as usual Friday morning, according to Principal Robert Gregory, even though smoke damage was heavy in the hallways.

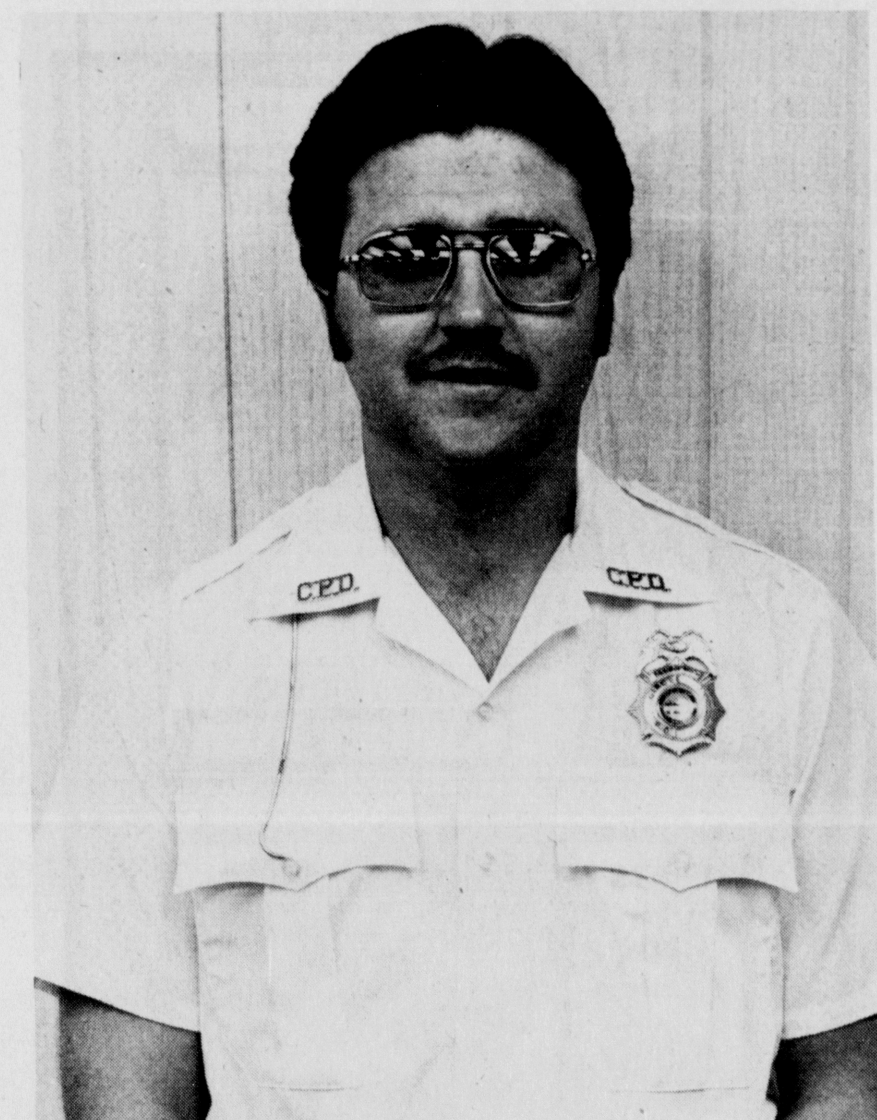

The blaze was discovered 6 a.m. this morning by a custodian, who immediately summoned the Harrison Twp. Fire Department.

The lounge and its contents were heavily damaged, with estimates of $3,000 reported by Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Jim Fite. The fire apparently began in a sofa in the front teacher's lounge.

The room was locked 9 p.m. Thursday, according to Gregory. The electric wall clock stopped working at 10:45 p.m., he said.

NEWEST POLICEMAN — Kevin Graul, 25, of Grove City has been appointed to the Circleville Police Department as a patrolman, the first officer hired from Civil Service tests given last May. Graul, who worked as a security officer at the State Office Tower in Columbus and as a dispatcher for the Grove City Police Department, will work three months on the first trick beginning Sept. 16 and rotate to the other shifts for his training, which will be supervised by Capt. Jerry Smallwood. Graul and his wife Valerie plan to move to the city. The Department is attempting to appoint at least three new men to its ranks, according to Capt. Smallwood who is screening persons who participated in the Civil Service exams.

CARRIAGE DISPLAY — Carriages and antique farm machinery will be on display during Farm Heritage Days Saturday and Sunday at the William Green Farm on Thrailkill Road and the Drummond Brothers Farm on Dennis Road. The carriages and wagons above are only a part of the collection owned by Green. Farm Heritage Days are from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. at both locations and lunches will be available. The event is sponsored by the Farm and Farm Organization Committee of Pickaway County Bicentennial Commission.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices headed down today after two days of declines.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down about two points in early trading and declining issues took a moderate lead over advances on the New York Stock Exchange.

As usual, trading was active at the start of the session.

Brokers said the market's recent decline has touched off more selling today. Also worrying investors is the slide in sterling and a report that OPEC may raise oil prices significantly on Jan. 1.

Prices among widely watched stocks included American Telephone & Telegraph, down 1/8 to 60 1/2; General Electric, down 1/8 to 53 1/2; and U.S. Steel, off 1/4 at 49 1/4.

On Thursday, the Dow fell 6.07 to 966.87 and losers outnumbered gainers nearly 2 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange.

The pace of trading slowed to 16.54 million shares from 19.75 million shares on Thursday.

56th Annual Farm Bureau Meeting Attended By 124

The 56th annual meeting of the Pickaway County Farm Bureau was held at the 4-H and Grange Building on the county fairgrounds Thursday. There were 124 members present.

Trustees elected at the meeting were: David Bolender, Washington Twp., two year term; Ernest Enoch, Circleville Twp., three year term; Robert E. Peters, Harrison Twp., three year term; Vaughn Dresbach, Walnut Twp., three year term.

Elisabeth Stevenson was elected a trustee of the Women's District. Delegates for the 1977 Ohio Farm Bureau Federation annual meeting will be Donald DeLong and Glen Yaple. A dues increase from $30 to $36 was approved unanimously by the membership present.

The following policy resolutions were adopted:

Mrs. Wallace Considering Divorce?

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace's wife ordered his bedroom telephone conversations taped after she learned he was keeping her under "surveillance," published reports said today.

And when she heard on the tapes the governor making "disparaging remarks" about her to several of his longtime female friends, Mrs. Wallace consulted a divorce lawyer, The Montgomery Advertiser said.

Quoting "highly reliable sources," the newspaper said Wallace too talked to a lawyer about divorce after he learned his wife was taping his calls. The Advertiser did not elaborate on what form of surveillance it said Wallace had used on his wife.

The Wallaces appeared in public together Thursday in the governor's mansion at a brief reception for Rosalynn Carter, wife of Democratic presidential nominee Jimmy Carter. But neither answered questions about the buggings, and neither was available later for comment about the Advertiser report.

Mrs. Wallace, 37, stood throughout the welcoming ceremonies, her hand resting on the back of her husband's wheelchair. Wallace has been paralyzed below the waist since he was shot while campaigning for president in 1972.

Billie Joe Camp, Wallace's press secretary, said the couple hadn't appeared in public together since the governor celebrated his 57th birthday on Aug. 25.

Wallace had confirmed on Wednesday the discovery of the bedroom taping device, whose existence had long been rumored. He labeled the incident a "domestic matter between my wife and myself," although he did not specifically say that his wife knew about the device.

He refused to discuss specifics of the taping device, but he said the tapes had been destroyed.

engineer to bring the county bridges up to legal load limits and widen them to accommodate modern farm equipment.

(2) We encourage the sheriff's department to continue the good work they have been doing in law enforcement and crime prevention in the county.

(3) Farm Bureau members are encouraged to avail themselves of the new Identifax program and also cooperate by participating in a self help crime watch program as outlined in the crime in the county brochure.

(4) The county judges be encouraged to inflict stronger penalties upon conviction, and use more discretion in handing out reduced or suspended sentences.

(5) We continue in our efforts to negotiate with the Tour of the Scioto River Valley officials to make their annual bicycle tour safer and less congested.

(6) Farmers be encouraged to be courteous and use extreme caution when moving equipment on the highways.

(7) A satisfactory county owned, county controlled sanitary landfill be established in a location accessible to all county residences.

(8) We call for better cooperation between the county engineer and the soil conservation service pertaining to farm drainage.

State

(1) A farm trailer license be established comparable to the existing license fee schedule for farm trucks.

(2) The sentencing procedure for convicted felons be reviewed by the General Assembly and sentences be more uniform with the crime committed. We oppose reduced recognizance bonds for repeat offenders. We are opposed to felons who are second offenders being released without serving a sentence.

(3) Quarterly rates for truck and trailer licenses be re-established.

(4) We support the elimination of the county school boards in all counties that have more than one rural school district and all authority be returned to the local school boards.

(5) We encourage farmers to study the feasibility of using on farm storage as an alternative to the problems that may be encountered by using delayed price grain.

(6) The welfare program be made into more of an educational program and not just a free handout.

(7) We encourage the state to maintain the level of funding for the cooperative extension service and agricultural research.

National

(1) Farm Bureau continue to work for meaningful tax reform in the area of estate taxes with goals to help farms transfer within families.

(2) As long as farmers are urged to produce at full capacity we should not be hampered by any export restrictions.

(3) We oppose gun control.

(4) We make the public aware of the fact that an open market system, backed by on farm storage will provide a build in national food reserve.

Highway Patrol Investigates Two Car Accident

The Highway Patrol investigated one accident Thursday at State Route 104 at 762.

Gregory Thatcher, Route 2, Orient, stopped for a stop sign at the intersection, then, failing to yield, pulled into the path of a vehicle driven by Joseph Spare, Columbus. Spare, southbound on 104, veered to the left, but was unable to avoid the other car. He struck the front of Thatcher's car, spun around and came to rest at State Route 104 south of 762.

Thatcher's vehicle spun around in the same manner, and ended in the same area. Thatcher claimed injuries. The investigating officer was R. L. Daub.

Jet Hijacked

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) — An Indian Airlines Boeing 737 was hijacked over India early today and forced to land at Lahore, Pakistan, where officials said all 77 passengers were allowed to leave the jetliner unharmed.

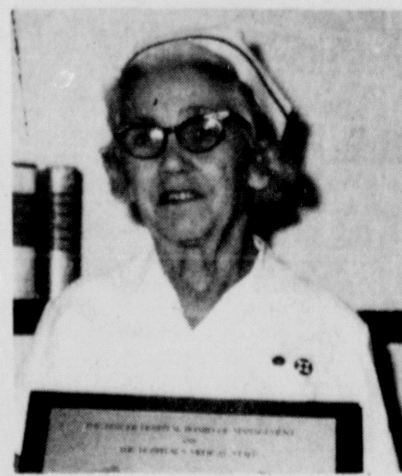

Pakistani officials said the plane was refueled at Lahore, and there were unofficial reports that it had taken off for the Middle East.

Later, Israel Radio, quoting radio monitors and airport sources in Tel Aviv, said the jetliner was approaching the Arab sheikdom of Bahrain and was trying to establish contact with the airport tower there.

The reports from Lahore airport indicated that apparently some or all of the six-member crew remained on board the aircraft.

There was no official word on the number of hijackers, but sources in Islamabad and in New Delhi said there was only one.

Bar Worker Big Winner In Lottery

CLEVELAND (AP) — Fifty-seven-year-old Murray Wheeler says he makes it a practice to buy some of the lottery tickets that are left over every week at the bar where he works in Prospect, Ohio.

Thursday night, one of those tickets that nobody else wanted brought Wheeler $250,000 in the Ohio lottery Pot O' Gold game.

Every Tuesday, Wheeler said, he buys $5 to $20 worth of tickets "that would have gone back unclaimed."

He said his winning ticket was one of 10 he bought Tuesday morning before they were to be returned to the Ohio Lottery Commission.

Wheeler, a retired truck driver, works parttime at the Victory Inn, and now plans to retire from his bartending job too.

"I'm going to work for those people until Oct. 2," he said, "its not everybody who has a quarter-million dollar bartender." Then, Wheeler said he and his wife, Edna, 52, probably will take a trip to Florida to visit friends.

Guy O'Neal of Columbus won $25,000. Other winners included Bernard Bulesky of Streetsboro, $11,000; Claude Blanton of Ashland, Ky., $9,900; Richard Shaheen of Canton, $9,800, and Mary Searcy of Toledo $8,500.

In the weekly number drawing these numbers were picked: 69245; 427 951.

A Page Of Opinion

Age And Ability

A number of myths about aging have been punctured by a 20-year study of 2,500 persons by staff members of the Puget Sound Health Cooperative in Seattle. The most important finding was that an individual's abilities do not automatically decrease with age.

Math skills may decline a bit, but verbal comprehension skills were found to increase or at least remain stable. Researchers also found that some cases of presumed senility were caused by medication. When the subjects were placed under a doctor's care and the medication was stopped, signs of senility also frequently disappeared.

Differences in intelligence levels between persons at ages 45 and 65 were found to be caused more by generational differences than any other factor. As for the individual's political outlook, the study found most concepts were formed in the 30s and 40s and changed little as the person aged.

Myths do not die easily. Strange that a plateau in life that most people eventually reach should need defending at all.

Why Whiskey

By JIM BISHOP

Big John said that men misunderstood the value of whiskey. "Most of them," he claimed, "drink for fun. When I drink - which you must admit is rarely - it is to cover up my fears."

The philosophy had a certain freshness, but I didn't believe a word of it. His tendency was to seize upon anything good, and overdo it. In his old age he rediscovered plum pudding. He ordered a case of it and ate it until his eyeballs bulged.

If a scientist said that a combination of Epsom salts and apple cider would add 10 years to one's life, my old man would mix a keg of it and rent separate bathrooms for the whole family. His outstanding characteristic was a positive approach to everything, even when he was bullheaded and wrong.

He would not permit a feminist movement in our family. Wives were the private property of their husbands and were designed by God to be protected from rights, privileges, decisions and knowledge.

When my sister Adele began to date, her boyfriends seldom survived the soft snarling questions, the mental fingerprints and blood tests. No one could tell him anything about boys. He knew what they were after.

The act of walking to church on Sunday was prescribed. The children, wearing their starchiest best, dog-trotted three paces ahead of the huge police lieutenant. Two paces behind him, my mother puffed, wailing, "John! Where are we - West Point?"

It is too late to concede that the old man may have been right about whiskey. And yet I recall a time when the brakes went dead on his Hummobile and he went gliding downhill on a highway in frozen terror.

My mother sat serenely at his side because Big John didn't tell her that they were racing toward certain death. The car came to a stop on a shoulder of the road. My old man didn't utter a word. He got out and ran to the nearest saloon and downed four belts before he drew a deep breath. In 20 minutes, he was prepared to handle any crisis except my mother.

H would not attend an Irish wake without proper preparation. Sometimes the preparation became so proper that Big John became the life of the funeral service.

Among his assortment of fears was height. He was afraid that, given the opportunity, he would jump off a mountain or a tall building. One morning, he had an appointment to see Walter Chrysler Jr. in the Chrysler Building.

Big John loved to dress and he looked like a fashion plate as he entered the lobby of the skyscraper. The information desk said that Mr. Chrysler's office was on the 54th floor. It is fascinating to note that my father didn't get off the ground floor.

The "thought" of 54 stories almost killed him. He ran past St. Catherine's Church to a tavern on Third Avenue, panting like a dog in a desert at high noon.

He enjoyed stopping in Mike Ceretta's barbershop until one fateful afternoon. Big John was getting a "trim," talking politics to a man under a steaming towel in the next chair. No answers were forthcoming because his friend had chosen this moment to drop dead.

From that day forward all barbershops were off his list of places to go. This time he was definitely caught with no options because he wanted his white hair to look neat; fingernails should be rounded and gleaming; shoes should always have a high polish.

Sadly, every three weeks he drank his way in and out of hair-cuts. Anyone who didn't share his assortment of fears didn't understand the situation. The amount of consumption was not

Youth Panel Urges School, Job Changes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A task force on teen-age unemployment has called for a lowering of business taxes, welfare reform and a greater emphasis on the "three Rs" in Ohio high schools.

The Ohio Youth Task Force on Jobs presented extensive recommendations Wednesday to Gov. James A. Rhodes who appointed its 18 members last December.

Many of the proposals parallel those made by Rhodes over the past year and a half, but task force chairman Rob Hovis said they were arrived at independently after interviews with business, government and labor officials.

"It is a sound approach," Rhodes said. "There's areas there of differences of opinion, but basically it's a sound program."

Many of the recommendations parallel proposals made by the governor over the past year and a half. "Most of these young people will be before the legislature testifying," Rhodes said. "I hope they have more luck than the governor."

The 175-page report says the state's tangible personal property on machinery and equipment should be reduced to zero over the next 10 years as an incentive to industry.

To compensate for any subsequent loss in tax revenue, the youngsters called for a one per cent increase in the corporate franchise tax on big business. The report suggests that the corporate tax boost might be averted if additional revenue becomes available from the state income tax.

The teen-age job prospect should be equipped a better high school background in reading, writing skills and mathematics, the report says.

"The rate of youth unemployment is three times that of the overall work force in Ohio," the study said. "It is estimated that 37 per cent of those great, but men in age maintain that their tolerance of alcohol is constant.

When he was 85, Big John asked me to give him a hair trim. He sat on a bench in the bathroom. I had electric shears. "You sure?" I said. He nodded. I made two short runs from the back of the neck to the top of his head and he began to look like a decrepit Comanche.

One run up each side of the head turned out to be uneven. His vision was misty. "I knew it," he said happily. "You missed your vocation. Should have been a barber."

Two more whacks at his head and he looked like a convict. "Great," he said. I was horrified. "Did you have a drink?" I said. He nodded slyly. "My boy," he said, "God invented whiskey so the Irish wouldn't rule the world."

unemployed are new entrants in the labor force."

According to a task force spokesman, 81,000 boys and girls in Ohio between the ages of 16 and 19 have been unable to find work.

Nevertheless, the report called for "stricter control of unemployment compensation eligibility" and a "critical review of welfare benefits and eligibility."

"Weekly welfare benefits should not exceed 75 per cent of the minimum wage for a 40-hour work week," according to the youth group. That formula would decrease benefits for some families.

Task force members interviewed representatives from business, industry, trade associations and government agencies in compiling the report. Two labor representatives were heard.

Task Force Chairman Rob Hovis of Helena said, labor unions tended to reflect the same point of view while business officials offered differing perspectives.

Medical Terms

Prove Confusing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Feeling ill after being described as SOB? Did someone send you to the ICU when you didn't want to see anyone?

The Ohio Nurses Association decided to help those who are ill and listening to doctors banter about the ailments.

SOB is still a bad term in hospital-lingo. It's short of breath. ICU means intensive care unit where most visitors aren't allowed.

And, if they send you into the hospital for a GI series, the military has nothing to do with you. Instead, you get a series of gastrointestinal x-rays.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, September 10, the 254th day of 1976. There are 112 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1813, an American naval force under Oliver Perry defeated the British in the battle of Lake Erie in the War of 1812.

On this date — In 1608, John Smith was elected governor of the Jamestown colony of Virginia.

In 1846, Elias Howe of Spencer, Mass., received a patent on his sewing machine.

In 1898, Empress Elizabeth of Austria-Hungary was assassinated by an anarchist in Geneva.

In 1907, the British colony of New Zealand became a dominion.

In 1939, Canada declared war against Germany.

Ten years ago: More than 3,000 men, using planes and other equipment, fought a giant forest fire in California.

Five years ago: South Vietnam's President Thieu said he would step down if he received less than 50 per cent of the vote in a South Vietnamese election.

One year ago: The Army court-martial conviction of William Calley, for the murder of 22 civilians at My Lai, was reinstated by a federal appeals court.

Today's birthdays: Golfer Arnold Palmer is 47. Former baseball star Roger Maris is 42.

Thought for today: Piling up knowledge is as bad as piling up money. You have to begin sometime to kick around what you know. — Poet Robert Frost

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago, the British were occupying islands in New York City's East River and this was seen as a certain sign that the British attack on the city would come soon.

Robert and Roderick Watts, twin sons of Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Watts of E. Main St. in Circleville were headed home for 15 days leave from the U.S. Navy. The two received five extra days leave for their commendable high grades in naval basic training.

Pickaway County Schools received money from the state department of education with which to start their school years. The distribution ranged from $5,671.18 for Walnut Twp. to $656.46 for Tarlton.

A former Darbyville physician thwarted an attempted burglary of his Columbus office. Dr. Floyd E. Ginder caught the man in the drug room of his office at 1551 Indianola Ave. in Columbus. In an ensuing scuffle, Dr. Ginder struck the man over the head with the barrel of a shotgun, and police apprehended the man a short time later when he checked into St. Francis Hospital under an assumed name.

Petitions were being circulated in the business district of Circleville asking that billiard rooms, bowling alleys, and skill games, including pinball, be licensed.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I am in my mid-60s and have had a radical mastectomy. I now am in good health. I wonder what your views are about having a breast implant.

Mrs. D. G., Fla.

Dear Mrs. G.:

The removal of a breast for cancer carries with it tremendous physical and emotional upheaval. Many women need a great deal of emotional support to carry them through the period of readjustment to their "new feminine image." I am always impressed by the sympathetic understanding and kindness of men toward their wives who have been traumatized by the impact of this surgery.

There are now many excellent cosmetic prosthetic bras that help re-establish the woman's image of herself following surgery. I do not feel that after such an experience, becoming involved with further surgery is in the best interest of the patient.

There are, however, excellent plastic surgeons and general surgeons in your own community. Your problem should be presented to them and to your own physician. They are in the best position to evaluate your physical and emotional needs and direct you to the conclusion that will bring you the most personal happiness.

I began having very small but painful boils in my nostrils. These last for a few days and then disappear. They come back with or without antibiotics.

Mr. G. W., N.J.

Dear Mr. W.:

The possibility that you have a recurring "staph" infection must be considered. This germ (and other germs) lie at the base of the hairs of the nostrils. When these are picked with or without a handkerchief, these germs set up housekeeping and cause repeated boils in the nose.

Frequently lubrication of the nose with light vaseline or baby mineral oil can prevent crusting and dryness. In addition, the use of steam inhalation for a few moments each morning and night may be beneficial. Good nasal hygiene is the most important factor in preventing the recurrence of these annoying infections.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

It is one thing to say "You cannot do X, because by doing X you will harm someone else." It is something else entirely, however, to say, "You cannot do X because by so doing you harm yourself."

And it is the difference between these two ideas which sets the Libertarian Party apart from all other political parties in the U.S. The Libertarian Party alone stands uncompromisingly for the idea of self sovereignty; all other political parties are dedicated in some degree to the idea that the individual is a ward of the state.

Libertarians strongly support prohibitions against the use of force and fraud, as these two activities are the two basic means by which human rights are violated. If someone does not initiate force against you and does not defraud you, he cannot violate your rights.

Libertarians maintain that the only legitimate function of government is to protect individual rights or to protect people from the use of force and fraud by others.

It is not a proper function of government, we believe, to assist some people at the expense of others, or to prevent individuals from harming themselves. An especially gross example of this kind of thinking at work is the requirement imposed by many states that motorcyclists wear crash helmets.

Now it may well be true that helmets contribute to the safety and well being of cycle riders. Then, again, there is evidence that wearing a helmet reduces a cyclist's peripheral vision and thereby significantly increases the likelihood of an accident.

But that is not the crucial point. Whether or not they prevent motorcyclists from injuring themselves, helmet laws are an arbitrary and dictatorial infringement of each individual's right to make his or her own choices and take his or her own risks so long as he or she does not violate the rights of others by force or fraud.

The issue raised by such self protection laws is really the question: "Who owns your life?"

On one side there are those who say that society or the government has the responsibility to take care of its citizens as opposed to simply protecting them from aggression. These are the people who maintain that the government has the right and duty to feed people, clothe them, provide them with housing, medical care, employment, and so forth. And if one accepts this premise, one must also accept the things which go with it — the taxation, regulation and self protection laws which are required to maintain a nation of sheep. After all, if Big Momma is going to take care of your every need it is not unreasonable to have laws that prohibit you from hurting yourself.

If you reject the Big Momma concept of government, if you want to be free to make your own decisions and accept the consequences, then you belong with the Libertarian Party and we welcome your support.

MRS. ELAINE LINDSEY, 107 Northridge Road

Dear Editor:

I have never in all my life seen such hard-hearted people. On Friday the third of September the Russell Family got burned out, I myself and a few other people have been asking for donations for the Russell family.

I stopped at a yard sale and asked for a donation of a mattress and was turned down. I went to the Salvation Army Store and asked for the same thing.

They wanted to sell, not donate. I thought that was partly what the Salvation Army was for. People never stop to think the same thing could happen to them.

The Russell family is still in need of a lot of items. What happened to all of the kind hearted people of this town? People give to the Salvation Army for other people. Especially for the poor people, but when you go there, they want as much as if the things were new.

Russian Writer Moves To U.S.

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP) — Alexander Solzhenitsyn, the exiled Russian writer, has secretly moved from Zurich, Switzerland, to the United States and will make his home in Vermont, according to people close to him.

Dr. Nicholas Pervushin of McGill University in Montreal, a friend of the Nobel Prize winner, confirmed the report Wednesday but would not say where Solzhenitsyn is living now.

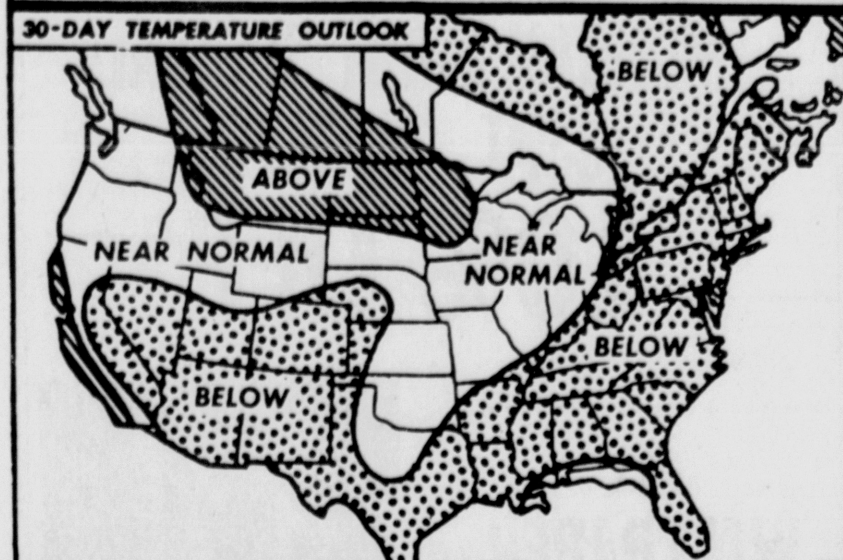

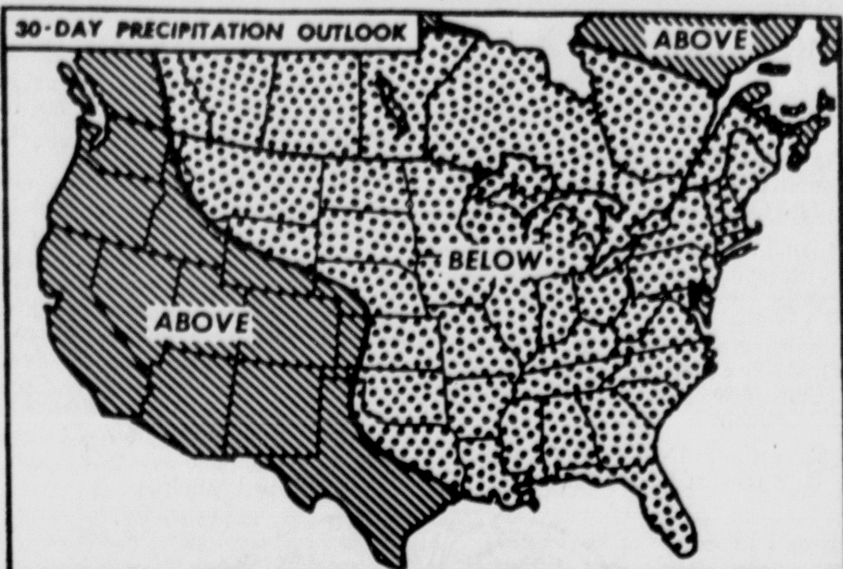

Solzhenitsyn was in Vermont last summer for a Russian seminar at Norwich University. Reports then indicated he was looking for property in Vermont.

Sources in Zurich said Solzhenitsyn left Switzerland early in August because of alleged harassment by Soviet secret police.

The Coast Guard says the primary function of buoys is to warn mariners of some danger, some obstruction or change in sea bottom contours, or to mark channels.

WASHINGTON (AP) — American and British leaders plan to encourage huge investments of Western money in a future black-ruled Rhodesia as part of their effort to stabilize turbulent southern Africa, senior diplomats say.

Their aim is to insure an independent black-ruled Rhodesia that would not follow nearby Angola's trail toward reliance on the Soviet bloc.

Sources said the project, still in its formative stage, would parallel proposals for another fund insuring the financial and political security of Rhodesia's 270,000 white settlers if and when the country's six million blacks take power.

This insurance fund totaling up to $2 billion would be designed to safeguard the assets of Rhodesia's whites. This fund would provide compensation for those who, after a defined period, might decide to emigrate or who may be forced to sell their properties after black rule is established.

The American-British plan for an investment fund to help black Rhodesia was portrayed by sources here as an evenhanded effort to balance the offer to Rhodesia's white minority. Yet it appears to pack wide implications.

Rhodesia, for instance, is easily the world's major source of scarce chrome and provides other coveted minerals like copper, manganese, and gold, not

Susan Ford Now Shares Townhouse

WASHINGTON (AP) — Susan Ford has moved out of the White House and is sharing a rented suburban townhouse with three female college friends — and a retinue of Secret Service agents in the basement.

President and Mrs. Ford reportedly had no objection to their 19-year-old daughter's making the move, which is costing her $118 monthly rent.

"If that's what she wanted, then it was fine with them," was the parental reaction, according to First Lady Betty Ford's press secretary.

Three friends of Miss Ford's from Mount Vernon College found the house in Alexandria, Va., and asked Susan to join them. Sheila Rabb Weidenfeld, the press secretary, said Thursday.

She moved in last Thursday. The other tenants, who all pay the same amount, are Kim Nardi, 19, of Wayne, Ill.; Patty Salmon, 19, of Philadelphia; and Beau Firth, 21, of Trappe, Md.

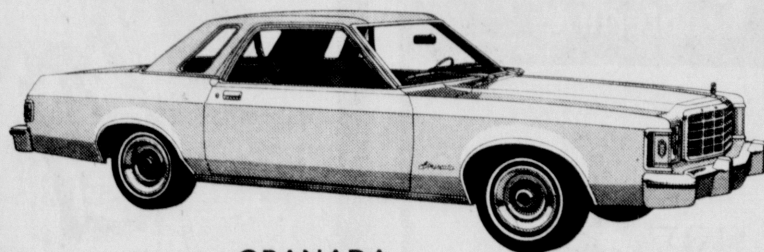

Miss Nardi and Miss Salmon are Mount Vernon College sophomores, like Susan; Miss Firth is a senior.

Miss Ford expects to live in the Alexandria house until the end of the current school term, when she will transfer to a college in Kansas City, Mo. Her Secret Service bodyguards are setting up headquarters in the basement.

The Ford administration and British Prime Minister James Callaghan's government are not finding it easy to convince likeminded Western nations to pledge meaningful contributions to these programs.

Word of the wider American-British plan came as U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger prepared to undertake a new mission to Africa in quest of an accord designed to head off dangers of a black-white race war in the region.

Kissinger's new try at shuttle diplomacy is expected to begin with the president of Tanzania, Julius Nyerere, proceed then to President Kenneth Kaunda's Zambia, possibly take in Mozambique and Botswana and wind up in Pretoria, South Africa.

There he may meet Rhodesian Premier Ian Smith, who broke from Britain in a unilateral declaration of independence 11 years ago. If things go well between Vorster and Smith in Pretoria, next week, however, a Kissinger appearance in Salisbury, Rhodesia, is a possibility.

MR. AND MRS. H. EDWARD COONER

Wedding Vows Exchanged In Emmett Chapel Church

The wedding of Miss Lucinda Ann Myers and Mr. H. Edward Cooner took place 7:30 p.m., Aug. 14, at Emmett Chapel United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Robert P. Miller performed the double ring service for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Myers, 293 Monticello St., Circleville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Cooner, Fort Walton Beach, Fla.

Large arrangements of white gladioli and blue daisy pompons graced the altar flanked with potted palms and seven branch candelabra, decorated with blue bows and greenery.

Don Metzler, organist, and Valarie Wilson, vocalist, presented a program of music preceding the ceremony. Selections included "O Rest In The Lord," "The Way That He Loves," "My Jesus As Thou Wilt," "There Is Love" and "Two Candles Glowing."

The bride was given in marriage by her father and mother. She was attired in a white lace and organza formal length gown. The bodice featured a high rise waistline, stand up collar, illusion yoke and bishop sleeves edged with lace. Appliqued lace flowers and pearls enhanced the sleeves and bodice. Rows of lace accented the full skirt and chapel length train. The bride's mantilla veil of illusion, edged with scalloped lace flowed softly over the train. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses, blue and white daisy pompons and baby's breath. Her only jewelry was a gold cross, borrowed from her mother.

Mrs. Robin Halley served as matron of honor for her sister. She wore a full length white nylon flocked gown over blue polyester with a high waistline and long sheer sleeves. She carried a colonial bouquet of blue and white pompons and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Joe Streitenberger, sister of the bride, Miss Karen Cooner and Mrs. Deborah Milman, sisters of the bridegroom. They were gowned identically to the honor attendant and each carried a single long stemmed white rose.

Flower girl was Miss Jessica Rader and Master Scott Shuttleworth was ring bearer.

Mr. Jerry Cooner performed the duties of best man for his son. Ushers were Mr. Ron Dalton, Mr. Don Fields, a cousin of the bridegroom, and Mr. Scott Teal.

The bride's mother wore a blue polyester satin A-line floor length dress with a coordinated flowered jacket. The bridegroom's mother chose a rose colored polyester floor length dress with a flowered capelet. Corsages for both mothers were of white daisy pompons and blue star flowers.

A reception in the Fellowship Hall of the church immediately followed the ceremony. The three tiered wedding cake was decorated with blue roses, white doves and topped with the traditional bride and groom figures.

Hostesses were Miss Cindy Bauer, Miss Shannon Brown and Miss Beverly Blackburn.

As the couple left for a wedding trip to Burr Oak Lodge, and Bowling Green, Ky., the bride wore a blue pants suit trimmed in white. They now reside at Nashville, Tenn.

The bride is a 1974 graduate of Logan Elm High School and is presently attending Trevecca Nazarene College in Nashville and is employed by Sears Roebuck and Company.

The bridegroom, a 1973 graduate of Fort Walton Beach High School in Florida, will graduate from Trevecca Nazarene College in 1977 with a BS in music.

Out of state guests at the wedding were from Florida, Alabama, Tennessee, Michigan and Missouri.

Future U.S. Role With China Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The deaths within the last eight months of China's two strongest proponents of détente with the United States have left analysts here wondering about the durability of Washington's role in China's balance-of-power strategy.

Within hours after the announcement of the death of Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger issued an optimistic statement about the future of U.S. relations with Peking, but he also indicated he has some apprehensions.

At one point, he told reporters on Thursday that it is "extremely difficult" to predict what China will do now, but moments later he said he is "sure that from the Chinese side, the basic lines of policy will continue to be pursued."

Kissinger was one of the chief architects of the move that, in 1971, ended more than two decades of hostility between the two countries. That policy was shaped in cooperation with Mao and Prime Minister Chou En-lai, who died in January.

Kissinger, whose comments appeared to be directed primarily at Peking, emphasized on several occasions that mutual interests are more important than personalities in formulating policy.

Therefore, he said, "the main lines of policy are likely to be continued." He pledged a continued American effort to normalize relations with Peking.

Since that effort began, the two countries have exchanged liaison officers and there has been a substantial increase in trade and frequent cultural and educational exchanges.

Lately, however, there has been little movement toward normalization and there have been reports — disputed by Kissinger — that Peking is growing impatient with the slow process.

Significantly, Kissinger said that although there could be a modification of tactics, China's long-standing rift with the Soviet Union likely will continue.

Other analysts, however, believe that Mao's death raises the best opportunity in many years for an easing of tensions between Moscow and Peking.

Aside from policy issues, Kissinger, who had met with Mao five times, called Mao an "eminent forceful personality" and said that "nothing he said was ever without purpose."

Kissinger said of his talks with the Chinese leader: "These conversations tended to be rather complex and rather illuminating."

President Ford called Mao "a giant figure" whose "actions profoundly affected the development of his country."

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Periods of cloudiness and sunshine will prevail across Ohio today with showers possible in northern and eastern counties during the day and in eastern sections tonight and possibly Saturday.

Highs today will be mainly in the 60s and 70s and the lows tonight are expected to drop into the 40s, spreading a touch of fall to Ohio. The fall like weather will continue Saturday.

A cold front moved through the state last night bringing rain generally with locally heavy amounts.

Veterans Questions Answered

EDITOR'S NOTE: Each week the Circleville Herald will publish a series of questions and answers of interest to veterans. These questions and answers are some of the many presented to James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer. Any veteran desiring further information concerning his Veteran Administration benefits should contact the Veterans Service officer at 219 S. Court St.

(Q.) On my Certificate of Eligibility for a Loan, it indicates a maximum of $17,500.00. Does this mean that I can only borrow $17,500.00?

(A.) No it does not. The maximum of $17,500.00 is the maximum that the VA will guarantee. The law allows the VA to guarantee up to 60 per cent of the loan not to exceed the maximum of $17,500. You can borrow any amount the lending agency will go along with.

(Q.) Is the rumor true that the Pension benefits will be increased 7 per cent in the near future?

(A.) This is a false rumor at the present time. It is true, that the House has passed HR 14298 which would provide for a 7 per cent increase and also add a 25 per cent increase for veterans past the age of 80 ... but, only the House has passed the bill. The Senate has not yet approved it, and it has not been signed into law by the President.

(Q.) There is also a rumor that GI Bill allowances for education will be increased by 8 per cent. How about this ... any truth in it?

(A.) At the present time, no. This increase is another of those bills which still have not been passed by both House and the Senate. If they pass it, and if the President signs the bill, it will be a law. Until then, it is nothing more than a rumor.

(Q.) May a veteran be enrolled for a fractional part of a semester, term or quarter, under the GI Bill?

(A.) No. The school enrolls a veteran for a program of education for which he is to be given credit. It must certify him for the full period for which he enrolls.

(Q.) On service connected death benefits, is the amount paid to the widow based on her income?

(A.) No. It is based on the rank of the veteran held on active duty.

Hawaii is surrounded by the Pacific Ocean.

Home For Handicapped Geese

LOVELOCK, Nev. (AP) — Bill Milich operates a home for wayward and handicapped geese.

Those big, graceful Canadian honkers fleeing the cold climes stop on southern treks to rest for a while or spend the winter on Bill's familiar pond.

They have a better chance there than they would if they were flying in front of the sights on his favorite 16-gauge shotgun.

Bill has been mothering geese for years. Come fall, the honkers move southward through the spacious valleys in Pershing County and light on the Milich property. He often feeds them on his front lawn.

"There are times when maybe 400 geese will fly over here," he said, waving his arm to the sky. "People stop on Highway 80 and cause traffic jams just to watch the birds."

Milich is a sportsman, a conservationist first and one of the state's most highly touted goose hunters second.

He has a license to raise the honkers and to raise some other game birds. But his favorite is the goose. He has a federal Fish and Wildlife license to do his thing.

Why does a hunter spend so much time as he does to hunt and kill fowl, then also take the time and care to raise them?

"It's good for the hunters out there and good for the geese. It keeps up the population. I raise about 100 a year and sell them or give them away for more breeding," he said.

Bill got started on his goose farm by bringing crippled geese back from hunting trips, nursing them to health and then keeping them for breeding purposes. Some of the geese on his pond can fly, but most can't because he's clipped their wings.

Each fall the resident population at the Milich ranch draws migrating honkers from their flyways down to the pond.

Unfortunately they also draw less-than-sportsmanlike hunters.

"I've had people come onto my property and shoot my geese. One time a guy killed 15 birds and threatened to kill me when I confronted him. Other times people will scare the birds into the air and someone just off my property will wait in the weeds and shoot them down," he said. That usually results in a few more cripples and more problems for the former county commissioner. He's well known in Lovelock, both for his county service and his geese.

He began his orphanage in 1944.

"I pushed the Department of Fish and Game into letting me get this thing started, and I've been fighting with them ever since. I got so mad at their policies one year I gave away 20 birds rather than sell them to the government for $100 each.

Like most good hunters, Milich has several bird dogs, a rack of good shotguns and a shack full of decoys. Hunting is his first love. He kills the geese he helps to protect — but in their environment and with their rules.

$2.4 Million Saved In OSU Energy Use

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Energy conservation saved Ohio State University nearly $2.4 million last fiscal year, officials said Wednesday.

Dallas Sullivan, university energy conservation director, said utility bills would have reached $9.1 million without efforts to cut down.

Simply turning off lights when they are not needed and lowering thermostats "probably accounts for 10 per cent of our savings, but we can still do a lot better in this area," Sullivan said.

Major efforts to reduce utility use included removing 70,000 lights from campus fixtures, saving $250,000. And the university saved $100,000 because cooling systems didn't have to work as hard to offset the heat from lights.

Heavy Rain In California

Flash flood watches covered much of southern California this morning, including mountains and desert areas. Hurricane Kathleen, off Baja California, intensified and is expected to provide low clouds and heavy rains through tomorrow. The hurricane was moving 25 miles per hour to the north-northwest.

Thunderstorms along the east slopes of the Colorado mountains were expected to continue this morning. Campers were advised to stay alert for rapidly rising streams.

Thunderstorms and rain showers were scattered along the Gulf of Mexico coast, the Appalachians and lower Great Lakes.

Skies were clear along the Atlantic coast. Clear or partly cloudy skies reached from the west portion of the Ohio valley through most of the Mississippi valley, across the north half of the plains and from most of the Rockies to the north half of the Pacific coast.

There were clear skies with near-freezing temperatures along parts of the upper Great Lakes.

Overnight temperatures ranged from 87 in Bakersfield, Calif., to 36 in Big Piney, Wyo., and Butte, Mont.

Convict Seeks Trip Into Space

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The U.S. space agency appreciates Jerry Atrip's offer, but officials don't want him to be a guinea pig astronaut.

Atrip, 24, is serving a 14-to-20-year prison sentence for manslaughter, and he'll do almost anything to get out.

Atrip wrote the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, "If I died in a space capsule for my country, it would be better than this slow, agonizing, everyday death in a prison cell."

"I am not a dumb head, and I have a strong initiative to learn. I read a lot of science fiction and UFO books. If they send monkeys up there, why not send a man who can do all their tests, and a man who doesn't really care if he returns or not?"

NASA spokesman Jack Riley said space officials appreciate the offer, but, "We are flying our experienced scientists and professionals and have no use whatsoever for any human guinea pig astronauts."

Another official added, "We aren't in the business in America of sacrificing human lives in the name of science. We appreciate the guy's apparent good will but we just don't do that sort of thing."

Atrip doesn't see anything odd about his offer.

"They have used convicts as guinea pigs to test medicines and serums and drugs," he wrote, "why not to further space technology? I have a bit of the explorer in my soul and if they think I can escape...well, they must be joking."

Atrip was convicted of the 1974 shooting death of Ronald Randolph of Dayton and is incarcerated at the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility at Lucasville.

Carter, Glenn Back 'Sunset' Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Democratic Presidential candidate Jimmy Carter and Sen. John Glenn have joined forces in support of "sunset" legislation that would shut down federal agencies that can't justify their existence.

Carter and Glenn were all smiles Thursday in their first public appearance together here since Glenn was bypassed in favor of Sen. Walter Mondale, D-Minn., in the naming of a Democratic vice presidential candidate.

Carter called the former astronaut "one of the great leaders of our country" and said he deliberately chose to endorse the sunset bill at a Port Columbus airport news conference in deference to Glenn.

Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, and Glenn are cosponsors of a bill that would force most government agencies to prove their worth every five years or face extinction.

"If elected, I will actively support a strong sunset law, covering most of the bureaucratic establishment and covering virtually all tax expenditures as well," Carter said. "I want a law which will shut down out-dated agencies and programs once and for all."

The bill would permit a cutoff of federal funds for existing agencies, deemed unworthy, and require new programs to have a date set for their existence.

"The instinct for bureaucratic survival, the political inertia which keeps old agencies afloat, is too strong to be overcome except by drastic procedures," Carter said.

The candidate was greeted warmly by several thousand during a brief downtown walking tour and later by a smaller group at a backyard reception. But at both locations he was heckled by a small band of anti-abortion demonstrators, chanting "life, life, life."

Carter has said repeatedly that he personally opposes abortion on moral grounds, but would not support a U.S. Constitutional amendment to outlaw it.

"This is a very serious problem for me as a candidate," he conceded. "This campaign issue is legitimate. I sympathize with the pro-life demonstrators who hold their placards and shout 'life'."

But he said he thought most voters respected his opinion on the issue and added that it was unfair to characterize the controversy as "myself against the Church."

"It is not a Catholic issue. There are many Catholics who do not favor a constitutional amendment," he said.

Glenn was cautiously optimistic about the former Georgia governor's chances of winning in Ohio. As "Peanut 1" flew skyward, he told newsmen: "I think we can carry Ohio, but it's certainly not going to be any shoe-in. We can't be apathetic about it."

Fellowships

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fellowships totaling $400,000 to 138 music composers and 11 librettists in 24 states and the District of Columbia were announced recently by the National Endowment for the Arts.

The purpose of the fellowships is "to encourage American composers and librettists to create or complete new works and to assist exceptionally talented individuals in their professional development."

The wheels are turning . . . those mental wheels . . . and the emotional ones, too—that in this "computer age" solve the equations of romance.

And like any computer the teen-age mind operates the way it has been programmed. Already he has some firm ideas about girls, and she equally firm ideas about boys. Each knows the kind of person he likes, the kind of character he respects, the kind of relationship he considers worthwhile.

Of course, the immediate question is whether to date. But the deeper question, of serious concern to their parents and to their own future: what standards, what principles, what convictions will they bring with them on a date?

That part of the programming, Parent, is largely your responsibility. And only YOUR CHURCH can effectively share it with you!

Man Holds Own Funeral 21st Time

BURLINGTON, Colo. (AP) — Jim Gernhart, who says he's worried he won't get a proper burial after he dies, will participate Sunday in his 21st funeral — for himself.

The 99-year-old retired farmer says he hopes he doesn't die before then. But if he does, Gernhart says he'll be buried in Goodland, Kan., because "I wouldn't be caught dead in Burlington."

Gernhart says his concern over lack of a decent funeral for himself has caused him to hold 20 funerals in the past 25 years.

"His funeral is the biggest thing that happens here," Mayor Rol Hudler said.

On Sunday, townspeople will honor him with what is supposed to be the 100th birthday funeral parade. Gernhart actually doesn't turn 100 until Nov. 20.

However, one of the parade funeral organizers says "he's getting a little old, and we're afraid he might not even be around then."

Gernhart staged his first funeral in 1951. He bought a copper casket, rented the local armory and spent more than $15,000 on a funeral party which attracted national attention.

Gernhart has had his copper casket shipped to a mausoleum in Goodland. He says he took the action because there was so much local outcry against his first funeral.

Gernhart, who lives in a rest home, says when he isn't planning funerals, he spends most of his time "just killing time."

He says "there should be a good crowd" for his 100th birthday funeral, and that "anybody can come who wants to."

Among festivities planned for the funeral are an antique car procession through town.

One of the organizers says 75 or so "damn, crazy fools" are expected to participate.

South Charleston Man Fights Fine

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A South Charleston, Ohio, farmer doesn't want a lawyer to defend him on a $2 parking violation. He just wants "counsel."

Robert H. Whitaker, 31, has taken his dispute over a $2 parking ticket to U.S. District Court here, arguing that counsel is "someone who helps or gives advice or speaks for him, without necessarily being a licensed lawyer by the bar."

Whitaker hired Ralph L. Rogers of Dayton to be his counsel. But Springfield Municipal Judge Douglas W. Geyer wouldn't allow it.

And Whitaker paid a $250 cash bond just to petition for his rights.

"Two dollars doesn't seem like much to anybody," Whitaker said, "but as long as those people waive their rights, it'll continue."

Cooperation Proves Key Factor In Communes

WEST DANBY, N.Y. (AP) — The deep, hollow sound of a goat horn sent a almost pagan sennet through the tall trees. It was morning at Yea God.

From domed, circular huts called yurts and crude teepees and tents emerge the faithful, ready to sing their way into another day of praising the Lord.

Barefoot and bleary-eyed, they assemble in a huge domed meeting place in the middle of the commune for their morning song. They sit on musty Persian rugs, the women in their long cotton dresses; the men in dungaree overalls. They assume the yoga lotus position and sing of love for Jesus.

Yea God is a four-year-old spiritual commune of about 40 members, who practice a handclapping, fill-me-with-the-Spirit brand of Christianity. Neither Yea God nor any other commune can serve as an archetype for all others. Some communes have rather traditional middle-class values and living patterns. Others have a back-to-the-earth flavor. Still others are politically motivated. And some are based on religion.

But all communes have one thing in common: the people, living so closely together, must cooperate if the community is to survive.

Yea God is trying to survive on religion. Their 39-year-old leader is a tall, lanky former insurance executive who calls himself Gil.

Gil, in turn, has given everyone else on the commune names. They are Ocean, Vast and Rock; Radiant, Bumblee and Love; Twinkle, Baby and Glory; Glow, Health and Virtue; Christian, Angel and Exquisite. They don't use their real names.

"The chipmunks eat from our hands and the chickadees land on our fingers," said Gil, rocking in an outdoor swing whose seat was once a pew in a church. "It's more important to be in a spiritual sense than to have prosperity."

It was late morning. The singing session was over and commune dwellers were off to work in the vegetable garden or to meditate in the woods. Glory, Gil's assistant, arrived with a platter of overripe melons. The Yea God members often eat overripe fruit because they can get it free from the highway produce truckers.

"Our lifestyle is a lot cheaper than you think," said Gil, who punctuates his statements every now and then with a soft "Praise the Lord."

He said it cost less than $1,000 a year for one person to live on the commune. The vegetables and fruit they grow they consume. Donations of money, clothing, food and other goods from visitors and relatives also help.

"We have no restrictions here, except our guests and members must be receptive to love," Gil said in a voice barely above a whisper.

No one at Yea God shouts or speaks louder than necessary to be heard. Even the children speak in hushes.

Health and Christian and a dozen or so other adults hover over the vegetable garden, pulling weeds, picking greens and tomatoes that are ready and tending to the plants so they will produce well.

Rebe and two others eye the base construction for the commune's new two-story laundry, bathhouse and child care center. They are laying pipes for plumbing.

The horn sounds again. It is time for the women to bathe. Water is heated, scrub brushes, water buckets and ladles are lined up in front of the stalls. Sunshine and other small children are put in large tubs, filled with bubbles. The children are unmindful of the nakedness of the adult women.

An hour later the horn sounds again. This time the men bathe.

Clothes are changed, and the Yea God people buzz about waiting for the trucks that will carry them to church that night. Neighboring farmers finally drive up with their pickups. The commune people hop on the back, and the trucks chug off down the dirt roads.

The church is the St. John Finnish Evangelical Lutheran Church in West Van Etten. It is to be a special evening service, featuring the singing of a Christian rock group from North Carolina called The Bridge.

On the bumpy, dusty journey down the hill to the church the commune people turn their faces to the wind and start to sing hymns. Soon they are clapping and stomping in true revival fashion. They are happy.

"Jesus is live," sings 19-year-old Vast From Brazil.

"Jesus is glory," sings 20-year-old Glow from Syracuse, N.Y.

The church meeting is a community affair. Women from other parishes have brought home baked cookies and breads. The Yea God people donate popcorn and wheat bread cookies.

"People really touch you a lot and become part of your life," Glow says as she sips fruit punch. "That's what I've learned and that's what I like most about being here."

Glow said she was working in a hospital in Syracuse and finally could no longer function. "Life in the city was very harrowing," she said. "I needed the country for peace, trees, flowers and for time to gather my thoughts."

There was much singing and shouting and testifying at the church meeting. And when it was over commune folk as well as community folk smiled at each other and prayed together.

But some Yea God people are disillusioned.

"I'm leaving tomorrow for home," said 20-year-old Exquisite from Connecticut. "I want to be able to serve by doing something and not just by praying."

Others plan to leave the commune because they say they are bored.

"The ideal would be to have a part-time job in town in social work and spend two days on the commune," said 27-year-old Good, whose real name is Jim. "I find I want to have the peacefulness of Yea God and the excitement of town."

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Forget The Noose And Cut Him Down

DEAR ABBY: I recently met a man I thought was together. He's 29, handsome, a smooth talker and single. The relationship went fine until I caught him in a few lies, then I did a little detective work.

I became suspicious when he told me he had a "weekend" job. I discovered that he is engaged to another woman. He told her if anyone contacted her and asked her any questions about him, not to give out any information because some "nymphomaniac" was chasing him!

Meanwhile, he checked up on me to find out what my assets are. (I'm a widow and well enough off, so I don't have to work, but I'm not rich enough to support him, which I'm sure he had in mind.)

Should I let him know I am on to him? Or give him enough rope to let him hang himself?

DISGUSTED IN DIXIE

DEAR DISGUSTED: Never mind the rope. He's already hung himself where you are concerned. Cut him down.

DEAR ABBY: My 13-month-old child, Pam, is teething, and she chews and bites everything in sight. Pam was crawling around on the floor with my sister's little boy who is 8 months old, and she bit him. Naturally the boy was frightened, so he screamed.

My mother-in-law who was there at the time became furious and ordered her 9-year-old to bite Pam. The girl bit Pam on the arm, leaving teeth marks, and Pam screamed so hard, she nearly went into hysterics. (Pam didn't leave any teeth marks on her cousin.)

When I told my husband about this, he sided with his mother, saying it was an old-fashioned remedy for breaking children from the habit of biting.

My mother is old-fashioned in many ways, and she said she's never heard of this remedy. Have you? Thanks for your opinion.

PAM'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: No. But I have heard that a human bite can be more dangerous than an animal bite if the skin is broken. Teething children should be provided with teething rings not cousins.

DEAR ABBY: My youngest daughter is going to be married soon. Her father is completely paralyzed and can't give her away. I was teasing her and said that I would give her away, and she said she would love it because she has two brothers and she would rather not choose between them.

The lady who directs weddings said it would be all right. I need your opinion. Should I give my daughter away? Or would it look silly?

MOTHER OF THE BRIDE

DEAR MOTHER: It's your daughter's day. Let her do as she wishes. I think it's a wonderful idea.

Family May Lose Kids To Court

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — It took six years, but Charles and Darlene Alsager won custody of their children last Christmas despite a court ruling branding them "mentally deficient." Now they face losing their children again.

The Polk County Department of Social Services filed a custody petition Wednesday. The department said it feared for the safety of the seven children — four boys and three girls, 10 months to 14 years old — who still live with the family. The eldest son, 18 years old, no longer lives at home.

The county petition cited alleged incidences of sexual abuse and incest among the children, threats by two Alsager boys to kill two other children, a threat by Mrs. Alsager to kill the entire family and other problems plaguing the Des Moines family.

"Being alive in a foster home situation is better than being dead where they are," said Quentin Emery, director of the social services department.

Last New Year's Eve, after the family was reunited, Mrs. Alsager said: "People have told me I'm stupid to fight for my kids, but I'm fighting for those people the same as for me. We had all eight of our children at home for Christmas and that's something to celebrate. I just hope everyone had as merry a Christmas."

Massasoit was chief of the Wampanoag Indians on whose land the Pilgrims at Plymouth made their settlement. Massasoit and his braves joined the Pilgrims for their first Thanksgiving in November 1621.

ROCKET SHOOT — Indian Guides are a father and son learning and doing things together. Chuck Orr and his little brave have shared an experience of building and launching their miniature rocket. You and your boy can learn more about Y-Indian Guides by attending the Y open house Sunday at 2 p.m. at the YMCA or by contacting the YMCA office.

YMCA Seeks Indian Guides, Princesses

"Of the many programs pioneered by America's YMCAs, none has grown more rapidly in recent years than the Y's father and son program Y-Indian Guides," Dennis Johnson, Pickaway Plains Longhouse Chief said today. "Last year, over 376,000 fathers and sons across the country participated in 26,025 clubs."

Johnson made the comment while announcing that the Pickaway County YMCA is conducting a recruitment program this week for Indian Guides and Indian Princesses.

During this week, Indian Guide and Princess Fathers will visit the first grades of Circleville and county schools. Additionally an Open house has been scheduled at the YMCA, Sunday, at 2 p.m. for families interested in learning more about the Y's Parent-Child programs.

Among the special events scheduled during the week are Friday when all little braves and princesses will wear their Indian costumes to school.

Dennis Johnson pointed to the requirement that fathers and their six-to-nine year old sons participate together as a key element in the program. "No youngster can join an Indian Guide tribe by himself," he said.

The Y Indian Guide program was begun in St. Louis, Missouri, in 1926, the brain child of YMCA Director Harold Keltner. Keltner has been impressed by conversations with an Ojibway Indian, Joe Friday, who had said he did not think white fathers were close enough with their sons. "White men," said Friday, "build cities. Red men build sons."

Y-Indian Guide tribes are usually made up of six to nine fathers and sons who meet in the members' homes on a rotating basis twice a month.

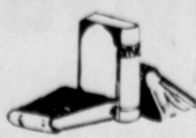

"Although Y leaders are available for consultation, the program is primarily developed by the fathers and sons themselves and can vary considerably from tribe to tribe," he said. "Usually, however, there are visits to places of interest to the children, crafts, games and songs, camping, and special events to which other members of the families are invited."

Most tribes also develop special service projects. "Last year, tribes in Pickaway County conducted three campouts, skating party, Family swims, attended hockey games, a father and son pancake Breakfast, Frontier Day, and a Rocket shoot."

3 Ohioans Named To Federal Panel

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Three Ohioans have been named to top spots on a national panel advising President Ford and his election campaign committee.

State Republican Chairman Kent B. McGough, Cleveland Mayor Ralph J. Perk and John S. Andrews, a former state GOP chairman in Ohio, were appointed to the posts at a meeting in Washington.

On Books And Activities At The Library

Believe it or not, it's time for Winter hours already! Beginning Sept. 13, the Pickaway County District Public Library will be open 9 a.m. - 9 p.m. on Monday - Thursday and 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Friday and Saturday. If you haven't already cultivated the library habit, we hope you will this Winter. A good book can make those long, cold evenings much more pleasant.

Even if your boat is already in drydock, you should take time to read our new series especially geared toward the boat owner. Published by Time-Life Books, the series includes: "The Boat", "Maintenance", "Boat Handling", "Navigation", "Cruising", and "Racing." They should also be a help to the person thinking about buying a boat.

Another interesting series starting to come in is the Time-Life Home Repair and Improvement set. "Paint And Wallpaper", "Space And Storage", and "The Home Tool Kit" are among the new arrivals this week.

It's not too early to start thinking about the welfare of our feathered friends this winter. "A Complete Guide To Bird Feeding" by John V. Dennis tells you exactly how to go about it in the proper way. An added bonus are the lovely illustrations.

Another kind of a guide is "A Consumer's Arsenal" by John Dorfman. In it, Mr. Dorfman shows you how to become a consumer who wins!

Pearl Bailey has become known for her wit and wisdom as well as her singing talent. "Hurry Up, America, And Spit" is a small book of personal thoughts based on Miss Bailey's philosophy of life.

Erma Bombeck is the current writer who looks at everyday routines with the eye of the humorist. "The Grass Is Always Greener Over The Septic Tank" is Miss Bombeck's view of suburbia.

"Lovey" by Mary McCracken is the true story of a "miracle" — how an emotionally disturbed child was reborn in mind and body because a compassionate, committed teacher made it happen.

If Loch Ness, Bigfoot, and Abominable Snowman holds a fascination for you, don't overlook "Monsters And Mythic Beasts" by Angus Hall.

"Dangerous Sea Creatures", based on the television series WILD WORLD OF ANIMALS, is an intriguing look at the life beneath the sea.

Deldersfield fans can look forward to a reissue of an earlier novel written before the popular writer became famous in this country. "Charlie, Come Home" is thought by some to be the best he ever wrote. It's an adventure story with an unexpected ending.

Contemporary political events in Africa add chilling realism to "The Barboza Credentials." It's Peter Driscoll's latest explosive novel of political intrigue.

If you're looking for a suspense story that's a real gripper, "Ordeal" by Milly and Gordon Gordon should do it for you. It involves an attractive female charter pilot in a plane crash on a stormy night and a subsequent search for her cargo — a million dollars.

You just have to know that "The Dragon Breath Papers" by Richard Gardner is a mystery with a Chinese flavor. The hero is a Chinese soldier straight out of Chairman Mao's army. The plot ranges from China to the United States and involves everybody from the West Coast longshoremen to the CIA. It's not without humor and should make entertaining reading.

Mystery fans can again encounter Inspector Schmidt, Chief of Homicide for the NYPD, in George Bagby's latest Crime Club offering, "My Dead Body."

"Hell Spout" by Bill Knox is the newest caper for Chief Officer Carrick of Her Majesty's Fisher Protection Service. This one gets some Russian spies into the act.

"Funny, Jonas, You Don't Look Dead" by Mary McCullen sends an ex-wife to Philadelphia to search for her murdered ex-husband.

Don't overlook the biggest travel bargain in Circleville — a free library card. It's a passport to the world!

Earl Palm Graduates

Earl Palm, Second National Bank, Circleville, was among those awarded a diploma Aug. 27 at commencement exercises of the Graduate School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

Graduation required attendance at three annual two-week sessions on the Madison campus and the satisfactory completion of extension problems between the resident sessions.

The School is sponsored by the Central States Conference of Bankers Associations from 16 Midwestern states. About 1,450 bankers were enrolled this year from 41 states and Puerto Rico.

The faculty of over 140 instructors included bankers who are specialists in their respective fields, practicing attorneys, business executives, economists, and members of over a dozen university and college faculties.

Dr. Herbert V. Prochnow, recently retired president of the First National Bank of Chicago, is director of the School.

Young Democrats Hold Meeting

The Pickaway Young Democrats met at the Bob Bensonhaver residence, Pontious Lane, on Sept. 8 at 8 p.m. Bensonhaver started the meeting by going over the charter and constitution which will govern the group.

Members present were Regina Bluck, Val Houser, Jerry Yeatts, Vaun Billman, Kathy Null, Mike Davis, and Bensonhaver.

The group decided to hold a dance in the Grange building on Oct. 9, with Goldrush as the band. The group will also serve lunch at an auction on Oct. 2 in Commercial Point. The membership drive is coming along very well and the club hopes to double its membership in the next two weeks by going to government classes in the county schools and talking about the Young Democrats Club, politics, and why students should get enthused.

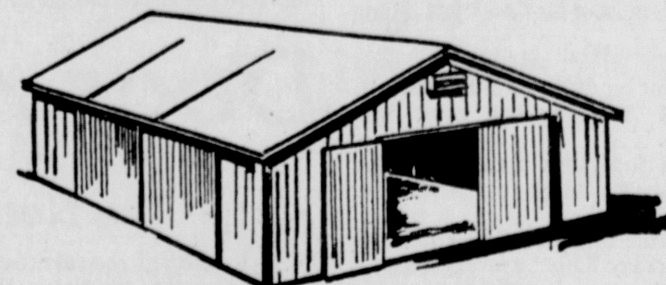

The club's next meeting will be 7 p.m. on September 15 in James Kingsley's office on west Main Street.

Ted Strickland of Lucasville, a candidate for 6th District Congressman, will be the guest speaker.

Rhine Valley Is Busiest

EDITOR'S NOTE: Guy H. Leatherwood and his wife Louise recently returned from a 16-day European Tour. Guy has written articles for the Herald on his travels to Alaska, The Holy Land and Mexico as well as articles on travels in the states. The Leatherwoods live in Ashville.

By GUY H. LEATHERWOOD
The Rhine Valley is the busiest river valley in Europe. The Rhine River has its source in Switzerland where it flows 133 miles to the Swiss border and then northward for 692 miles more to Rotterdam where it empties into the North Sea.

Rotterdam ships more tonnage than any port in the world and is sort of a distribution center for Europe. Along the Rhine River which is navigable for hundreds of miles are ships and barges in unbelievable numbers moving all kinds of heavy merchandise. In addition there are two double track railroads, one on either side of the Rhine and they are really busy.

In addition to this there are highways on either side of the Rhine also and they are extremely busy also!!! It is hard to imagine how much traffic there is in this valley. We took a tour on a boat on the Rhine River.

The scenery is about as beautiful as any one will see in Europe with the exception of Switzerland. The extremely steep slopes leading down to the river are covered with vineyards. Here are grown some of the finest grapes in Europe which give a particular taste to wine produced from them as the land is of a volcanic ash nature which is required for this specific purpose. There are many, many old castles along the Rhine that were built in places where they would be hard to attack. They look like they are growing out of the mountains. One fort in the river has been renovated.

It was built a long time ago to exact tolls from river traffic. It seems men have always found one way or another to exploit their fellowmen. Along the Rhine is a little church with a pub attached. It has pretty good attendance on Sunday morning, I understand, but mainly by women. The men generally stop off in the pub instead of going on through the pub to the church. There they wait for their ladies to finish their church duties while they finish their glasses.

We had lunch at a little town along the Rhine called Rudesheim that is famous for its eating places. We hadn't been in this little place but a little while until a young man playing music, including his guitar, and was soon making the place ring with his rendition of "Beer Barrel Polka." He could sing very well in German and one could see that he put everything into it and enjoyed our applause.

In Germany and Europe in general there is little air-conditioning. The climate is somewhat cooler and they feel it would be needed only about 6 weeks of the year. They also do not use much ice water. In fact it is generally difficult to get any water in a restaurant unless you ask for it. Then you might be served mineral water from bottles and charged for it.

However wine is another thing. They use wine generally as we do water with the meals. However when you don't care for wine you do have a problem. The tea is fine but the coffee leaves a lot to be desired. Only Israel has worse coffee I believe. I don't know where they get it but it isn't "Chase and Sandborn."

The highways are almost free from advertising and this is a welcome relief from what we have in the U.S. Even in the cities there is a pier erected on the busy streets about 3 feet in diameter and possibly 12 feet tall. This is used for public advertising. Much, much more attractive than advertising proliferating everywhere as we sometimes see it.

OLD CASTLE — The scenery along the Rhine is as beautiful as anywhere in Europe. Ancient castles keep watch on river traffic.

Super markets are moving into Europe at a fast pace since their introduction about 10 years ago.

We stayed at the Mainz-Hilton one night on the River Rhine. There were about four couples of us hayseeds who decided to explore the city. Well there are a lot of things to see in a beautiful old city whose streets are not laid out square but meander every which way. There are times when you should have a compass in the city as well as in the deep woods. You know it is surprising how many blocks you can walk if you want to find the place you started from.

In Germany there are more women (1.4 million) than men (1.2 million) engaged in agriculture. 18.8 million tons of potatoes are produced annually — more than any other European country. Their net profit per acre in 1975 was $400.00.

Mao Unique Leader, Nixon Says

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Mao Tse-tung was a unique leader who had a profound understanding of his own people and of the need for China and the United States to communicate, former President Richard M. Nixon says.

Nixon, the last American known to have met with Mao, visited him in China earlier this year as a private citizen.

In 1972, Nixon was the first American president to visit Mao's China, breaking through a diplomatic barrier of nonrecognition that the United States had maintained since the country's Communist revolution after World War II.

Mao died Thursday of an undisclosed illness.

In a statement issued from his seaside estate here, Nixon said, "Chairman Mao Tsetung's long march through life has now ended with his death at the age of 82. He was a man of immense physical courage and ideological determination, who worked up until his last days.

"As leaders who represented totally different philosophies and views, we both recognized when we met in Peking in 1972 that Chinese-American friendship had become indispensable to the interests of both our nations."

Nixon lauded Mao as a leader of China, saying, "I was particularly impressed by his profound understanding not only of the problems of his own people, but of the objective realities of the world situation. The new relationship which we established then was a tribute to this farsighted vision on his part.

Charles Manson Receives Letters

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Charles Manson has received about 100 letters a month since his conviction for mass murder in 1971, according to the author of an unpublished book about Manson.

"Manson wants the truth out on himself," said Richard Rubacher, a writer who said his book will give Manson's side of the 1969 Tate-La Bianca murders. Manson was convicted of the slayings and sentenced to prison for life. "Everybody comments on Manson but Manson himself, that's why he sent me the letters and why I'm writing the book."

Ohio Senate Report

By OAKLEY C. COLLINS
17th District Senator

Hunting is a major source of recreation for over 700,000 Ohioans. It is also an important part of the state's economy. In 1975 alone deer and small game hunters spent nearly $75 million in Ohio.

Wildlife management and research, safety education and enforcement of fish and game laws are under jurisdiction of the Division of Wildlife (DOW) of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources.

DOW is one of the few self-supporting agencies in state government. None of its funds for the above programs come from general tax revenues. Ninety-five per cent of the $8.9 million DOW budget comes from hunting, fishing, and trapping permits and excise taxes on sporting equipment. The remaining 5 per cent comes from fines and miscellaneous sources.

In 1976, 49 per cent of DOW funds will go for fish and wildlife management and research, 31 per cent is allocated to law enforcement and game protection, and 20 per cent is budgeted for capital improvements and administration.

While some groups consider hunting inhumane, it is considered by professional conservationists to be a scientific way of wildlife population control. The number and kinds of wildlife taken are determined by number and length of days in the hunting season and the bag limit.

Other factors are the type of weapon allowed, number of permits issued, and the size and location of the hunting area. These are based on population estimates for each species and their migratory or feeding patterns.

There are both economic and ethical reasons for wildlife control. Some species — particularly deer, fox, beaver, and muskrat — cause extensive damage to crops. The Ohio Crop Reporting Service estimates that wild fowl did over $3.6 million of damage to corn alone in Ohio last year. A recent article in the Buckeye Farm News cited extensive orchard damage by deer in northeastern and southeastern Ohio.

Hunting also prevents prolonged suffering from starvation when the population of a particular species grows too large for its natural habitat. Controlled hunting keeps wildlife populations within more manageable limits and is more humane than slow starvation.

Last year there was considerable controversy in the legislature over a proposal to ban steel leg-hold traps (HB 179). The bill never got out of committee and never will due to strong opposition from sportsmen. Petitions for a constitutional amendment banning this type of trap have been circulated but did not get enough signatures to be on the November ballot.

Another controversial bill (HB 1023) sought to rescind authority of DOW to establish a hunting season for mourning doves. This bill lost in the Senate. The department order is under litigation in the court of appeals, but with two written opinions from lower courts upholding the dove season, it will probably remain in effect. The Ohio dove season runs from September 1 to October 16, and from November 15 to December 8. Hunting hours are from noon to one-half hour before sunset.

According to DOW estimates, Ohio has about 7.4 million doves, the largest breeding population of any state east of the Mississippi River. Hunting is restricted to public hunting lands and private areas under agreement with the state. Doves may not be taken from buildings or utility wires and poles.

Hunting of migratory birds such as the mourning dove is closely regulated by both the state and federal government. These birds also include: ducks, geese, coots, mergansers, rails, gallinules, woodcock, snipe, and teal. Duck or goose hunting requires a federal permit.

The duck season extends from October 15 to November 27 and December 27 to January 1. The goose season runs October 15 - November 27 and December 27 - January 1. Hunting hours for ducks and geese are one-half hour before sunrise till sunset.

Bag limits for duck and geese are based on a point system. Different species are worth a different number of points based on the scarcity of that species.

Hunting is not permitted on Sunday, but three bills have been pending since spring of 1975 to permit certain types of Sunday hunting. All are still in committee and chances are null any will pass.

"Three gun-control related bills passed the House this session, but none affect hunters. These three bills (HB 53, HB 388, and HB 441) are still before the Senate Judiciary Committee. The first two related to prosecution of armed felons, and the third bill contains the 5-day "cooling off" period before delivery of handguns by commercial gun dealers. The Ohio General Assembly has thus far been extremely skeptical about such restrictions and will continue to be so.

One bill that did pass (HB 1316) and went into effect last week prohibits "jacklighting," which is shining a light at night to attract game animals.

Several new bills give license privileges to certain classes of people. HB 165 makes hunting licenses free for senior citizens. SB 243 and SB 384 allow disabled veterans with an honorable discharge to hunt, trap, and fish without a license. They must, however, carry proof of discharge and disability while hunting.

House Bill 514 permits fox hunting from horseback with dogs when the chasing doesn't result in the fox being killed.

Ohio's hunting laws are not complex, but they are detailed and do provide for fines when violated. If you intend to hunt this year, make sure you observe the law.

Information can be obtained by writing the Publications Center of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Fountain Square, Columbus, Ohio 43224. Especially helpful are their digest of hunting laws and sunrise-sunset tables.

Also consult your city hall and county clerk of courts for any local regulations that may apply.

Campus Notes

ANN ELIZABETH YATES

Ann Elizabeth Yates, of 126 E. Mound St., is one of 93 students from 50 different colleges and universities enrolled in Beaver College's London Semester Program conducted in cooperation with the City of London Polytechnic. The group will leave from Kennedy Airport in New York on Sept. 11 for 16 weeks of orientation and study in London.

Upon arrival in England, the students will have four days of orientation and excursions in and around London. In addition to the orientation period, each student will participate in Homestay — living with a British family for a week sharing daily experiences as a member of the family. Homestay is made by arrangement with the British Experiment in International Living.

The exploration of contemporary and historic Britain will be continued during the semester through specially arranged programs and weekend excursions to places of interest throughout the British countryside.

The students will begin classes on September 27.

An English major, Miss Yates is a student at Denison University.

Joe S. Disbennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Disbennett, Route 2, Laurelville, will be entering Oberlin College this fall as a freshman.

He is one of 116 freshmen and transfer students from Ohio. There are a total of 830 new students enrolled at Oberlin.

Lionie Maxson will be entering Bluffton college this fall seeking a major in Fine Arts. He is a spring graduate of Logan Elm High School.

Maxson had two pieces of work accepted for exhibition at the 1976 Ohio State Fair's Fine Arts Exhibit. His macrame entry was one of the top twenty awards, and both received top awards at the Governor's Youth Art Exhibition.

Robert Hively, 224 Sherwood Drive, entered college Monday as a freshman interested in studying religion. His address is Box 116 Wright Hall, Huntington College, Indiana 46750.

Hocking Tech Offers Classes

Hocking Technical College in Nelsonville is offering a variety of evening instructions during its fall quarter. A seminar on bicycling, or classes on real estate or income tax preparation can be taken at the school.

The bicycle safety seminar is designed for elementary teachers, supervisors, school administrators and members of civic organizations to pass on to kindergarten through eight grade students.

It will be held Sept. 29 at the college's public service department. Registration will start at 3:30 p.m. at the Hocking Valley Motor Lodge, and a group discussion will end the evening at 8:30 p.m.

The course, "Income Tax Preparation for Individuals" will be held every Thursday Sept. 23 through Dec. 3 from 8:10 to 10:50 p.m.

The course is aimed to help people understand taxes so they will feel confident enough to prepare their own forms.

"Real Estate Principles and Practice", one of two courses required for state licensing in Ohio, will be offered on ten Tuesdays starting Sept. 21, from 6:30 to 9 p.m.

Registration should be completed prior to the first night of class. For further information on any of these courses, call 753-3591.

Count Basie Hit By Heart Attack

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Band leader Count Basie is recovering from a heart attack at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center.

A hospital spokesman said Basie, 72, was resting comfortably Thursday. His condition was termed fair, and no date has been set for his release.

Basie, 72, suffered the heart attack Monday. For nearly 40 years he has been a headliner with his big band and its jazz arrangements.

Reds Turn Back Astros, 4-3

HOUSTON (AP) — Joe Morgan was just happy to be in the right place at the right time.

After missing one game with a moderately sprained ankle, Morgan returned to the Cincinnati lineup and drove in a pair of runs and scored two more as the Reds tripped the Houston Astros 4-3 in 11 innings Thursday night.

"I just go out there and try to help the ball club," said Morgan. "I just happened to be in the right place at the right time."

Pinch hitter Bob Bailey drilled a two-out single in the 11th to score Morgan with the winning run as the Reds eliminated the Astros from contention in the National League West race.

Houston scored three runs in the first two innings off Reds starter Pat Zachry on run scoring singles by Bob Watson, Greg Gross and Enos Cabell.

The Astros maintained their three-run advantage until the eighth. Morgan walked, took second on a grounder and scored on Johnny Bench's single off Houston starter Joaquin Andujar.

One inning later Morgan drove home Cesar Geronimo and Dave Concepcion with a single off reliever Ken Forsch.

Rawly Eastwick, 11-5, hurled two scoreless innings in relief to pick up the victory while Will McEnany blanked the Astros in the 11th for his seventh save of the season.

"I'm not concerned with Los Angeles," said Cincinnati manager Sparky Anderson. "We can win it by ourselves."

The loss was Houston's fifth in the last seven games and the Astros 12th loss in 18 games with the Reds this year.

Nineteen days ago, Tom Underwood pitched a complete game as the Phillies beat the Houston Astros 5-1. The Phillies then packed their bags for a road trip, fully expecting to return conquering heroes, with the National League East title all but sewed up.

Thursday night, the Phillies returned home and beat the Cubs 4-2 on Jim Lonborg's seven-hit complete game performance.

In between those two victories was a road trip that was rockier than the "Perils of Pauline." Along the way, the Phillies lost 12 of 16 games, saw their once-secure lead of 15½ games over Pittsburgh shrink to 4½, and, basically, seemed to forget how to bat and pitch.

While the Phillies were away from home, no pitcher went the distance. The hitters were not producing either. They were shut out twice, held to one run five times and two runs on two occasions.

By Thursday night, the Philadelphia fans at Veterans Stadium decided to forgive and forget, standing and cheering for a full minute in a display of frenzied support for their falling Phillies. The players were moved.

And the fans were even happier at the end of the game when the Phillies were able to post their second victory in 13 games, increasing their lead over idle Pittsburgh to five games. Each team has 24 games left, two against each other.

Elsewhere in the NL, St. Louis beat Montreal 6-1; Cincinnati nipped Houston 4-3 in 11 innings; San Diego edged Atlanta 4-3, and San Francisco downed Los Angeles 4-2.

Giants 4, Dodgers 2
It isn't like 20 years ago when the Giants and Dodgers were from different boroughs in the same city. But a meeting between San Francisco and

Los Angeles still has some meaning, especially to John Montefusco.

Montefusco, 15-12, and Gary Lavelle combined on an eight-hitter as the Giants won their 10th game in 15 meetings with Los Angeles this season. Gary Thomasson's two-run homer in the seventh inning snapped a 2-2 tie.

Cards 6, Expos 1
Lynn McGlothen pitched a four-hitter and batted in three runs but wasn't the whole show for St. Louis. Rookie Garry Templeton slugged his first major league home run, part of the Cardinals' 12-hit attack. And Lou Brock swiped his 50th base of the year, extending his own record for seasons with 50 stolen bases to 12.

Padres 4, Braves 3
Tito Fuentes stroked a two-out, bases-loaded single in the ninth inning to break a 3-3 tie and lift San Diego over Atlanta. Padres reliever Butch Metzger picked up the victory, improving his record to 11-1.

Willie's Dillies

By BILL MCGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

The preliminaries are over and the main event steps to center stage tonight when all four Pickaway County high schools open their 1976 grid seasons.

These young men have been hard at work beginning with a conditioning program during the summer and moving into the "crack and smack" practices in August.

Now they are ready to go — And tonight's the night. The grass has been cut — The fields have been lined — the light bill has been paid — The uniforms are in "spick and span" order — And everyone is waiting for the town clock to strike 8 p.m. when the whistle blows and the toe propels the football into the air and the waiting hands of the kickoff return man.

The Circleville Tigers will host Chillicothe. Teays Valley will be at home with Logan Elm while the Westfall Mustangs will travel to Madison Plains in tonight's contest.

These young men will provide the fans with plenty of thrills and action and be the center of attraction.

But, when the gun cracks — signalling the end of the first half — Another bunch of youngsters will move into the field and put on another show which you won't want to miss — Of course, we are referring to the school's fine marching bands.

Some of these halftime shows are really spectacular and well worth the price of admission on their own. They really put the icing on the cake.

The young ladies and men who form these units also work hard and deserve your recognition and applause.

They spend a lot of time and effort perfecting their routines and are just as much a part of the Friday night sport program as anyone else and deserve a lot of credit and encouragement from the people in attendance.

The combination of a great football game and a fine band performance can't be beat — We will be taking advantage of it tonight and hope to see you at the game

Our "fearless" forecast — The Cavaliers will not be able to cage the Tigers ... The Vikings should edge the inexperienced Braves ... The Mustangs will trample the Golden Eagles.

Until next time, have a nice day-be a good sport.

UCLA Crumples Arizona State

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — The 1976 football season has been dubbed as Arizona State's "year to make history" - the first real chance for the Sun Devils to win the mythical national title. However, somebody forgot to tell the UCLA Bruins and their quarterback, senior Jeff Dankworth.

Dankworth, overshadowed the past two years by All-American John Sciarra, guided the awesome Bruins' ground attack as it chewed up 486 yards en route to a 28-10 rout of the third-ranked Sun Devils in a nationally televised game Thursday night.

The victory not only left the Devils agast, but also nearly all of the 50,876 fans who packed Sun Devil Stadium and witnessed the nation's longest major college winning streak snapped at 13.

"We're fortunate to have had three weeks to prepare for this game," said Dankworth. "That's longer, of course, than for most games."

"Our whole game plan really was the counter-attack and counter-drive, because they do so much stacking, overshifting, stunting and blitzing." Dankworth attained near perfection in executing the game plan, and himself rushed for 155 yards on 19 carries, scoring twice.

Sophomore halfback Theotis Brown added another 127 yards and two TDs, while running back Wendell Tyler contributed an additional 93 yards on 21 attempts.

While the offense came up with 509 total yards, the Bruins' defense kept Arizona State from mounting any

Archie Griffin Debut

Not On Television

CINCINNATI (AP) — Archie Griffin's National Football League debut will be blacked out Sunday on Cincinnati area television since the game is not a sellout.

Ol' Grid Picker Likes Raiders

NEW YORK (AP) — Here it is September, a time to think baseball playoffs and World Series. The division races we have been waiting for all summer are here at last and instead of paying attention to the Pirates and Phillies and the A's and Royals you want to know who's going to win the football games.

Some nerve.

This is a time for pennant pressure and you're into pigskin prognostications.

You should be ashamed.

Okay, you simply have to know who will win the games this weekend when the National Football League beings its 57th season. Well, for starters, Seattle and Tampa Bay, newest members of the pro football lodge, won't.

What's that? You knew that already?

You figured out that the two expansion teams wouldn't win their openers? Very good. But here's something you didn't know. The New York Giants and Oakland Raiders will win their first games for the week's upset specials.

The Giants, facing one of the NFL's more gruelling schedules, will have plenty of upset opportunities, starting with this week's Washington game.

Oakland, on the other hand, is an AFC powerhouse and will be favored just about every week except this one when the Raiders must face defending champion Pittsburgh.

But the Pro Picker has this hunch that the Giants and Raiders will start this season off on the right foot.

The Pick:

Giants 21, Washington 17

The Giants are a vastly improved team with a redesigned ground game centered on bulldozing Larry Csonka. The Redskins are hurting just enough to lose to New York for the first time since 1970.

Oakland 17, Pittsburgh 14

The Raiders think this is their year ... again ... and there's no better time to start proving it than against the defending champion Steelers. Pittsburgh had an in-and-out exhibition season.

Los Angeles 27, Atlanta 10

Even without O.J. Simpson, the Rams are very, very good. The Falcons, unfortunately, are not.

Miami 30, Buffalo 16

Without O.J. Simpson, the Bills are not very good. The Dolphins will exploit the gaps. Wouldn't it be funny if O. J. Showed up in the ABC analyst's seat for this Monday night TV game?

Dallas 24, Philadelphia 7

In the tough NFC East, the Cowboys get an easy one for openers. The rebuilding Eagles need help almost everywhere and they won't get it from Dallas.

Cincinnati 20, Denver 14

The Bengals are loaded and are shooting for a sixth straight home-opener victory. The Broncos are improved but not quite in Cincinnati's class.

St. Louis 33, Seattle 10

The Cardinals are off and running with speedsters like Terry Metcalf and Mel Gray and the newly-minted Seahawks have the misfortune to be their first opponents.

Minnesota 17, New Orleans 7

Old and dependable - That's the Vikings. Young and ambitious - that's the Saints. We'll take old and dependable, thank you.

San Diego 14, Kansas City 7

The Chargers have some interesting personnel and the Chiefs don't. That makes San Diego a one-touchdown pick here.

Chicago 17, Detroit 14

Another mild upset. The Bears are getting better. Not much, you understand, but enough to surprise the Lions.

Cleveland 24, N.Y. Jets 6

Return of wide receiver Paul Warfield should juice up the Browns. The Jets are in a jumble, shuffling bodies left and right.

Baltimore 21, New England 10

Forget the sorry pre-season and the front-office feuding. The Colts have some outstanding talent, more than enough to handle the constantly rebuilding Patriots.

San Francisco 16, Green Bay 13

Both teams have a new look at quarterback. We like the 49ers' new look-Jim Plunkett-better than the Packers' - Lynn Dickey.

Houston 24, Tampa Bay 7

Winless in the pre-season, look for the Oilers to bounce back. The bouncing starts against the baby Buccaneers.

Michigan, Ohio State Favored In Big Ten

By JOE MOOSHIL
AP Sports Writer

The Big Ten opens its 81st football campaign Saturday with little hopes for anything more than another two-team race between Michigan and Ohio State.

This time around Michigan is being picked to wrest the title won by Ohio State last season despite the fact the two teams meet in Columbus for the big game on Nov. 20.

Whether the two teams again will go undefeated in conference play before their annual great confrontation is up to the rest of the conference.

Teams like Illinois, Minnesota and Purdue will pack a lot of punch but whether or not they can play with the likes of Michigan and Ohio State remains to be seen.

Neither Michigan nor Ohio State is expected to run into any difficulty opening day when both contenders play at home. Michigan takes on Wisconsin and Ohio State faces Michigan State.

Unlike a year ago when Wisconsin had high hopes of upsetting Michigan, the Badgers will be happy to get out of Ann Arbor in one piece. In fact, Bo Schembechler might have the Wolverines passing as early as the second quarter. Bo has stated that once the Wolverines have established a comfortable lead, they'll work on their passing game.

Michigan State would like nothing better than to get back at Woody Hayes for blowing the whistle on Spartan recruiting violations. But even new Coach Darryl Rogers admits there's little chance of that although Levi Jackson is still in the Spartan lineup.

Two years ago Jackson broke off an 88-yard run at Columbus as Michigan State sprung a 16-13 upset.

The home teams in the other three conference openers Saturday are favored.

Illinois, which has one of the best defensive teams in the league, is favored over Iowa. The Illinois defense will be tested by quarterback Butch Caldwell and tailback Dave Schick.

Illinois hopes quarterback Kurt Steger and tailbacks Chubby Phillips and Jim Coleman can generate an offense.

Purdue remembers last year's upset loss at Northwestern and the Boiler-makers are planning to get even. Coach Alex Agase has a well balanced team headed by quarterback Mark Vitali.

Northwestern has running back Greg Boykin back to again assault Wildcat rushing records.

The Indiana-Minnesota game could be interesting. Indiana has a great running back in Courtney Snyder. Minnesota hangs its hopes on the arm of Tony Dungy who last year led the Big Ten in passing and total offense.

Ohio Prep Gridders Ready For Action

By GEORGE STRODE
AP Sports Writer

Ohio high school football teams begin one of their latest-starting seasons ever Friday night with all 729 squads bidding for the postseason glory of state playoff championships.

"This is the latest start since I became commissioner in 1969," said

Harold Meyer, who is retiring from that post Aug. 31, 1977.

He will be replaced by George Bates, the current associate commissioner of the Ohio High School Athletic Association, governing body for the state's school sports.

This is the fifth year for the football playoffs. Only one school, Class A Middletown Fenwick, has won more than one state championship, doing it in 1973 and 1974.

For that reason, Meyer said, "Right now, there is no school going to dominate the playoff picture. We expect even races in all regions. And there is no reason to expect Ohio high school football to deteriorate any."

Class AAA Cincinnati Moeller, AA Cleveland Holy Name and A Carey are the defending playoff champions.

The state semifinals, to be determined by OHSAA computerized regional ratings, will play Nov. 19-20. The championship games will follow Nov. 26-27.

The three title games all will be played in the 38,000-seat Akron Rubber Bowl with the AAA championship at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Nov. 26, the A finale at 4:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 27, followed by the AA windup three hours later.

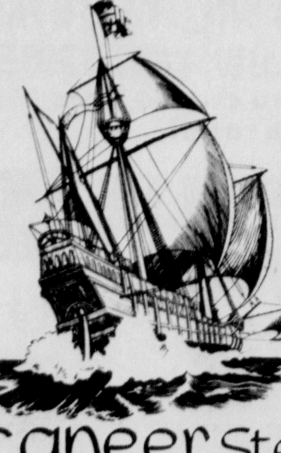

There is one change in the playoffs. If a game requires overtime, each team will start its series of downs on the opponents' 20-yard line instead of the 10.

The 1976 total of football-playing schools is up two over 1975. Two dropped the sport while those taking it up for the first time are Briggs and Independence in Columbus, Southview in Sylvania and Turpin in Cincinnati. All are AA except AAA Southview.

The Associated Press again will conduct statewide ratings, based solely on regular season play. The AP poll will start after the third weekend of games.

Lakewood St. Edward became the second Cleveland area school in history to win The AP's major division crown last fall. Cincinnati Wyoming was ranked No. 1 in AA and Newark Catholic in A for the second time in three seasons.

Paul Brown Unhappy With Draft Ruling

CINCINNATI (AP) — Paul Brown, who built a National Football League dynasty in the 1950s without benefit of the college draft, rapped a federal judge's ruling that could abolish the present draft system.

The Cincinnati Bengals general manager and former coach called the ruling "a major blow to any structure in professional sports."

Brown said the ruling endangers the competitive balance of the NFL and threatens the foundation of college sports as well.

Royals Stop Angels, 6-5

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

There's obviously nothing wrong with George Brett - and the same could be said of the Kansas City Royals.

Both returned from sick bay Thursday night and never looked healthier while beating the California Angels 6-5 in 10 innings.

Brett, injured while trying to break up a double play in Wednesday night's loss to California, came back in top form Thursday night and collected five hits, including the game-winner in the 10th inning.

The perfect night by the All-Star third baseman helped the Royals keep surging Oakland at bay in the American League West race. The Royals had lost four straight games and nine in 10 before Thursday night and saw their once-mighty 12-game lead dwindle to five games.

The second-place A's, meanwhile, kept the pressure on the Royals by defeating the Chicago White Sox 2-1.

In other American League games, the New York Yankees defeated the Milwaukee Brewers 4-2; The Cleveland Indians nipped the Baltimore Orioles 4-3; the Boston Red Sox blanked the Detroit Tigers 5-0 and the Minnesota Twins turned back the Texas Rangers 6-0.

Steve Mingori, 4-4, picked up the victory for the Royals while Mike Overy, 0-2 took the loss. The Royals collected 15 hits off Angel starter Paul Hartzell before he was replaced by Overy with two outs in the ninth.

The A's Jim Todd, who relieved starter Mike Norris in the second inning and pitched out of a bases-loaded situation, got credit for the Oakland victory, improving his record to 7-8. Rollie Fingers earned his 20th save, relieving Paul Lindblad in the eighth and getting out of another bases-loaded jam. Chicago's Ken Brett, 9-9, took the loss, while Jorge Orta's 13th homer of the season in the sixth inning accounted for the Sox run.

Yankees 4, Brewers 2

Ken Holtzman, 13-8, recorded his seventh successive career victory over Milwaukee with a seven-hitter and Thurman Munson hit his first Yankee Stadium home run since July 21 as New York defeated Milwaukee. The victory, coupled with Baltimore's loss, reduced to 13 the Yankees' "magic number" for clinching the AL East title. Loser Bill Travers, 13-15, went the distance for the Brewers.

Indians 4, Orioles 3

George Hendrick's lead-off home run in the seventh inning, the second Cleveland homer of the game, gave the Indians their victory over Baltimore. Pat Dobson, with seventh-inning relief help from Dave LaRoche, who recorded his 17th save, beat the Orioles for the fourth time without a loss this season and boosted his record to 14-11.

Red Sox 5, Tigers 0

Right-hander Rick Wise flirted with a perfect game for 6 1-3 innings before settling for a two-hitter in pitching Boston over Detroit. Wise retired the first 19 batters in order before rookie Phil Mankowski drilled a 3-2 pitch for a single to center with one out in the seventh. Ben Oglivie followed with a ground single through the middle but Wise settled down and improved his record to 12-10 with his fourth shutout of the season.

Twins 6, Rangers 0

Pinch-hitter Rod Carew hit a seventh-inning grand slam home run and Minnesota beat Texas behind the three-hit pitching of Dave Goltz.

KARATE CLASSES — And self defense are just a few of the many subjects offered by the Pickaway County YMCA this fall. Everything from genealogy and meditation to Y Tots and a history of Pickaway County is open for registration. Classes start Sept. 13, and registration can be completed by mail or by stopping in at the YMCA office on E. Franklin St.

The most varied selection of informal education classes ever offered are about to begin at the Pickaway County Family YMCA this fall. Slated to start the week of September 13, they will include all of the old favorites, plus many new subjects never offered at the local Y.

These include genealogy, a course on how to search and where for information about your family; Meditation, learning techniques of calming the body and relaxation. There will also be a course on "Insurance Know-How", which is a study of various types of insurance; how to sew maternity clothes and baby clothes; a mini craft course, and a Quit Smoking clinic.

These are only the new things added to the Fall session; there are many more.

In order to join the classes, you may register now by mail or come in to the YMCA office for your registration.

Other classes and instructors this session are the well known Y Pre-School, directed by Marilyn Scranton, assisted by Ethel Maze; once a week exercises, directed by Connie Straten; guitar program taught by Leighton McFerren; genealogy with George Robinson instructing; bridge class under the guidance of Margaret Knox; Slim Living and twice a week women's evening slimnastics.

Marge Wolford will teach the sewing class for maternity clothes and baby clothes and Debbie Garrett will instruct ages 6 through 8 in tap, ballet and jazz dancing lessons.

Women's slimnastics will be offered both morning and evening twice a week with Connie Staten and Joan Eller directing. There will also be fitness work outs for both boys and girls.

The Y Tots program will be for three year olds. This fine program, under the guidance of Marsha Kowalski, is held twice a week and is a planned program of fun along with learning, geared to this special age group.

Baton instruction for both beginning and continuing students will be taught by Teresa Woods. The minimum age for the class is three years.

Dennis Sparks will be in charge of the Karate program for both youth and adults and Wallace Higgins will again teach the history of Pickaway County.

Beginning and refresher typing will be held on Tuesday evenings at Circleville High School with Peggy Dean instructing and shorthand will be given by Lois Brobst the same evening.

A comprehensive study of personal insurance coverages will be given by Larry Eveland, and a beginning course in Slim Living with Joan Eller instructing will be held for both a morning and an evening session.

Mrs. Jill Weldon will be the gymnastic instructor for the fall session and Joan Eller will teach acrobatics.

Bowling and skating for boys and girls ages eight and up will be held at Circle D.

On Thursday Joan Eller will have a special exercise class for women who are 29-plus and women's continuing ballet and continuing tap will also be ROTARY SPEAKER — Rotarians were visited by District Governor T.D. Griley of Newark at their regular meeting Thursday. Griley was introduced by Dr. Carlos Alvarez and is pictured with Rotary President Sterling Poling. Griley spoke about the successful club assembly held prior to the meeting during which each program chairman outlined his project for the year. Griley also gave a rundown of the coming meetings to be held with the other state officers and the local representatives.

Bus Crash Injures 6

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — A tractor-trailer rig slammed into the rear of a stopped school minibus on U.S. 30 during a rainstorm Thursday, injuring six persons, one critically.

The Highway Patrol said the bus, operated by the Blanchard Valley School for the Retarded, was discharging a youngster when the accident occurred just west of Williamstown.

The six persons aboard the bus, all residents of rural Hancock County, were injured and three were hospitalized.

Most seriously hurt was Paul Gossard, 15, who was listed in critical condition at Lima St. Rita's Hospital with severe head injuries.

Admitted to Blanchard Valley Hospital in Findlay were William Frazier, 22, with head injuries, and Toby Baumgardner, 7, with multiple injuries. Both were listed in fair condition.

The patrol said the accident still was under investigation and no citations were issued immediately.

Social Security Course Proposed At OU-Lancaster

One of the more interesting courses that will be offered at Ohio University-Lancaster this fall quarter is entitled "The U.S. Social Security System". It will cover programs, policies, and problems related to the prevention and alleviation of economic insecurity in the United States. Special emphasis will be placed on social insurance and public assistance programs with evaluation of proposals for change.

The course, Social Work 290, is the first of a three course sequence required of Social Work majors and offered at Ohio University-Lancaster. This course will also satisfy the social science requirement in the College of Arts and Sciences and Education as well as serve as an elective in other programs.

Social Work 290 will be offered on Thursday evenings from 7 - 10:20 p.m. starting Sept. 23. Registration for the course will be held on Thursday and Friday, Sept. 16 and 17 from 1:30 - 7:30 p.m. at Brasee Hall. Further information about the Social Work course and other courses may be obtained by contacting the Administrative Offices at 654-6711. Fall quarter schedules are available at the campus.

Pieta On Loan

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist University's Meadows Museum has borrowed a 16th-century painting of the Pieta done by Spanish artist Juan de Juanes.

The 60-by-40-inch painting is on extended loan from the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts. Meadows Museum Director William B. Jordan determined the painting was genuine three years ago and arranged for its restoration and loan.

3 A GOOD PLACE TO START TOP PAY. Best training available in the Ohio Army National Guard Engineer's. Belonging to the guard means working one weekend a month and two weeks each summer, after completing basic training. Today's high pay rates make it one of the top paying part time jobs around. The training and experience the guard provides helps land solid full-time jobs in private industry. Prior military service personnel qualify for part time duty and pay immediately at the last rank held upon discharge. There are a lot of good spots open in the local Engineer unit for those who want to be part of something that counts. Talk to someone who knows the whole story. Call 969-2221 for interview today. 8:30 a.m. - 6:30 p.m.

19. Farms for Sale

NOTICE SALE OF ROSS COUNTY FARM ADAM D. SCHAAL ESTATE — 216 ACRES

216.46 acres located in Colerain Township, one mile East of Hallsville; three miles West of Adelphi; approximately sixteen miles Northeast of Chillicothe, Ohio, on State Route No. 180. This farm lies on both sides of the state highway.

205 acres are tillable, well drained, and well fenced; comprised of excellent soils and with a "very high" productivity rating. Average yields per acre last year were 130 bushels of corn, 51 bushels of wheat and 42 bushels of beans.

Main farm buildings on State Highway near the center of the farm are all well maintained and include an eight room two story frame dwelling house with full basement, natural gas heat with nearly new forced air furnace; two large barns; two silos; 3 cribs (including 1 double crib); tool shed; good garage and shop; granary and other small buildings.

This farm has been appraised at $1,000.00 per acre; total appraised value: $216,000.00.

For appointment to inspect the farm, the farm buildings or the dwelling house, call the undersigned executrix.

Being offered for sale at 1:30 o'clock P.M. on Tuesday, October 5th, 1976

at
THE LAW OFFICES OF DON C. PATTERSON
WEST MAIN STREET, ADELPHI, OHIO 43101 (directly across West Main Street from Ross County National Bank)

Growing crops will not be sold with the land and the executrix reserves the right to harvest any crops still in fields at date of sale.

Persons attending the sale of October 5, 1976, must qualify by having submitted a sealed bid to Don C. Patterson, Attorney at Law, Adelphi, Ohio, 43101, at or before the time of the sale; the highest sealed bid will then be used as the opening bid on the day of sale. Bid forms, which include detailed terms of the sale, may be obtained from Don C. Patterson, Attorney at Law, Adelphi, Ohio, 43101. Each bid must be accompanied by a cashier's check or certified check of $5,000.00. Such checks will be returned to unsuccessful bidders at the conclusion of the sale.

No bid to be submitted in an amount less than One Hundred Ninety Thousand Dollars ($190,000.00) and executrix reserves the right to accept or reject any bid. Forthwith upon the acceptance of a bid the successful bidder will be required to pay the executrix earnest money in the amount of $15,000.00. Balance of the purchase money will be due upon tender of deed.

For further information contact Don C. Patterson, Attorney at Law, Adelphi, Ohio. Telephones: 614-332-3581 or 614-655-2002.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Better-than-average influences, but there's still plenty of work to be done in various areas - too smooth out kinks, coordinate forces in better fashion.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Empty the techniques successfully used in prior efforts. But do not hesitate to update plans and vitalize your approach. Tact in personal affairs!

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Some complexities indicated. In all situations, be sure you have the facts before making decisions. Travel and communications favored.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Avoid the illogical and close your eyes to the dubious schemes of others — no matter how attractively they must be presented. Let your head rule your heart.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Influences somewhat restrictive. Neither speak nor act in haste lest you have cause for regret. Maintain high principles, but avoid dissension, antagonism.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): You should encounter few obstacles how, but be on guard against "little" errors, miscalculations.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Some confusion in day's early hours can be cleared up if you just roll with the punches. Trying to crash your way through will only worsen matters.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Stars now promise benefits from past efforts as well as surprising achievement in some presently stubborn area. You can disarm others by a frank approach to issues.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): You now have an above-average chance to get a footing in an area long sought, a project long desired. But don't rush in without preparation. Discuss angles with experts.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Sudden, unexpected action, abrupt speech or unconventional could get you into difficulties and disturb the smooth sailing you could otherwise have now. Be alert, discreet.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Especially favored now: travel, outdoor pursuits and

Sunken Treasure
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The richest recovery of sunken treasure in the New World was taken from a Spanish galleon that went under off the coast of Florida during a hurricane in 1715. According to the Rand McNally "Traveler's Almanac," over $1 million worth of coins and other goods were brought up, and much of it is on view in the Museum of Sunken Treasure in Cape Canaveral City.

City Board Of Education Meets Thursday Night

By CRAIG ALLISON
Herald Staff Writer

The Circleville Board of Education met in regular session last night in the board offices at the Circleville Junior High School building.

Board members approved the following changes of training categories for certificated staff members: Roger Wolfe, Master's degree plus 25 years; Paula Richmond, B.A. to five years training; Neal Handler, five years to Master's degree; Ty Ankrom, B.A. to Master's degree; and Dennis Stewart, five years to Master's degree.

The board approved a list of students assigned to Special Education programs outside the district, and a list of personnel traveling within the district.

The board gave approval for teachers to consider payroll deductions for cancer insurance and also for contributions to the Pickaway County Community Fund.

Board members also adjusted the contract of Marcia Lobas Little to include extended service for two weeks because she was transferred to a vacated position of Work Study.

Travel reimbursement was changed from 11 to 12 cents a mile.

The Circleville City School's disciplinary action policy was reviewed as it relates to sections 3313.66 and 3313.661 of a new Ohio law. The board approved a revised policy submitted by Superintendent Fritz Jacobs.

The board also reviewed and adopted a policy mandated by Amended Substitute House Bill 455, regarding due process and procedural safeguards concerning handicapped children.

Also approved was a policy recommended by Jacobs concerning requirements for an annual report to the public, as mandated by Senate Bill 170.

The board also reviewed the Circleville School's policy concerning student's records as related to a new Ohio law which was Amended Senate Bill 367. The board supplemented Circleville School's existing policy with the following:

Release without consent is permitted to other schools in which the student intends to enroll.

No person shall release, or permit access to, the names or other personally identifiable information concerning any pupil attending a public school to any person or group for use in a profit making plan or activity.

"Directory Information" may be released without consent (except to profit making plan or activity) unless a parent objects. Director information includes: pupil's name, address, telephone listing, date and place of birth, major field of study, participation in officially recognized activities and sports, weight and height of member of an athletic team, dates of attendance, date of graduation, and awards received.

Jacobs also reported to the board on a meeting with personnel from the Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational School. From that meeting, officials developed a regular schedule for counselors from Circleville High School to visit the Vocational school, and a Circleville school events calendar is to be given to every Circleville student attending the Vocational school.

The board gave approval to send Jacobs to the A.A.S.A. Conference in Las Vegas, Nevada in February, and they also gave approval to send personnel to the following professional meetings:

Patricia Southward, to the Special Study Institute for school psychologists, in Columbus; Doris Gillespie, to the Central Ohio Articulation Conference, in Columbus; Joyce O'Brien, to the Girl's Basketball Clinic, in Pittsburgh, Pa.; and Sharon Wilamowski, to a conference on Guidance in Our Third Century, in Columbus.

For the Class of 1977, graduation exercises will be held on May 29, 1977, at 2 p.m.

The names of Richard Geyer, Norma Sutton, and Ann Maxwell were added to the substitute teachers list. Geyer teaches music, and Ms. Sutton and Ms. Maxwell teach on the elementary school level.

The board added the Junior High cheerleaders to the Junior High Activity Fund, and approved the reports from the athletic and activity fund and the school psychologist.

With the agenda completed, the meeting adjourned at 10:30 p.m.

Three People Injured In Accidents

Three people were injured in two accidents investigated by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies.

Roy D. Seibel, 53, Laurelville, and a passenger in his car, Charles W. Seibel, Route 1, Chantersville, claimed injuries following a 9:48 p.m. Thursday crash on Route 56, one-tenth of a mile east of the Zane Trail Road intersection.

According to the report of Deputy Nick Franklin, Seibel's auto slammed into the rear of a tractor-trailer rig, which had pulled into a private driveway to turn around.

Driver of the truck was David L. Fritchie, 26, Route 1, Gridley, Ill. He apparently pulled his rig into the driveway as far as possible, but the rear of the trailer was blocking the westbound lane of Route 56.

Fritchie was charged with failing to yield the right of way on a left turn.

Owen F. Knox, 38, Route 1, South Bloomingville, was charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol or drugs and having no operator's license by Deputy Jim Fite following a 3 a.m. Friday accident on Route 56, a half mile west of the Hayesville-Adelphi Road intersection.

Knox, who refused emergency treatment by a private ambulance, was given first aid by Deputy Fite for a laceration over his left eye.

According to the report, Knox was driving east on Route 56 when he went off the right side of the road. The car traveled 150 feet before rolling down a 30 foot embankment.

Reber Hill Cemetery Seats Taken

Five cemetery seats, with a value of $475, were taken from the Reber Hill Cemetery, 16810 Winchester Road, since Sunday.

Cemetery manager Harold Jones told Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies that thieves entered the cemetery by cutting a lock on the south gate.

Four of the seats were cast iron and one was aluminum.

Deputy Larry Kellenberger is continuing to investigate the possible theft of items from the Route 23 home of Robert Johnson.

The deputy found that thieves forced the rear door to the house and may have entered several outbuildings on the property.

Bernardin Leads Anti-Abortionists

CINCINNATI (AP) — The chairman of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops was to lead a group of Roman Catholic bishops in a meeting with President Ford today at the White House on abortion and related matters.

A spokesman for the Most Rev. Joseph L. Bernardin, Archbishop of Cincinnati, who led the NCCB conference committee in a meeting Aug. 31 with Democratic candidate Jimmy Carter, said no statement would be made until after the morning session.

Archbishop Bernardin said the meeting had been requested by President Ford prior to the Carter meeting.

The conference committee gave testimony before the platform committees of both parties. Bernardin had been critical of the Democrat platform which opposed efforts for a constitutional amendment to protect the unborn.

Ford has described his own abortion policy as being "quite different" from Carter's. Ford has said he favors a constitutional amendment that would permit the states to set limits on abortion.

Carter said he personally opposes abortion but is against any constitutional amendment outlawing it. But, following a meeting with the NCCB conference committee he said he respects the rights of others to try to get such an amendment passed.

Bernardin said following the meeting with Carter that the committee continued to be "disappointed with the governor's position and we repeat our call for a constitutional amendment."

The Archbishop said he felt the meetings with the candidates were

Stoutsville

Mayor Resigns

E. A. Thiel submitted his resignation as mayor of the village of Stoutsville at the Tuesday meeting of the village council.

Also submitting his resignation was Dick Riffle Jr., the village's Deputy Marshall. Both resignations were accepted "with regret."

In attendance at the meeting were Charles Harrison, Lloyd Meyer, Leewood Rhymer, Ellsworth Wright, all members of council, and Mary E. Meyer, the clerk.

Mayor Thiel read a letter from the Ohio Department of Transportation stating Penn Central has not yet abandoned the railroad tracks through the village. Any paving over the tracks would have to be removed at the expense of the village if the tracks are put into use again.

Council approved a motion to vacate an alley behind the Edgar Danner property so he can install a sanitation system. Mrs. Roy Harden asked council to check drainage tiles near her property. Payment of bills was approved.

Arrests

SHERIFF

Owen F. Knox, 38, Route 1, South Bloomingville, no operator's license; operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol or drugs.

OSP

Clark M. Maughmer, 31, 4351 Anderson Rd., operating a motor vehicle while under the influence.

POLICE

Wilma Payne, 40, Williamsport, failure to yield.

helpful in keeping the issue of abortion visible.

"A byproduct of these meetings is that there is more visibility of the issue and it will be discussed not only by the candidates but by the people themselves."

The NCCB, however, emphasized they were concerned with issues only and taking no position on either candidate.

Besides Archbishop Bernardin, others scheduled to attend the White House meeting are: John Cardinal Carberry, St. Louis; Terrence Cardinal Cooke, New York; Archbishop John J. Maguire, New York; Bishop James W. Malone, Youngstown, Ohio and Bishop James S. Rausch, general secretary, Washington D.C.

An NCCB spokesman in Washington said "Sanctity of Life" issues to be presented to Ford besides abortion include problems of: hunger, health care, employment and income, over emphasis on illegal aliens as a cause of unemployment, collective bargaining, economic planning, tax fairness, inflation, federal housing, education and aid to nonpublic schools, gun control, criminal justice reform, capital punishment and civil rights.

Harsha's Mobile Office To Be In Chillicothe

Congressman William H. Harsha's mobile district office will be in Chillicothe Sept. 17 and Sept. 18.

On Sept. 17, the van will be located at Tiffin Tower, South Walnut St., from 10 a.m. - 1 p.m. and at Chillicothe Mall, North Bridge St., from 3 p.m. - 7 p.m. On Sept. 18, it will be downtown, Main and Paint Streets, from 9 a.m. - 12 noon, and at Central Center, Western Avenue, from 2 p.m. - 5 p.m.

Harsha's district representative, Bill Farley, will be available to assist Sixth District Residents seeking help with problems and projects involving the Federal Government.

Those seeking such assistance should bring with them all pertinent information such as Social Security and Veterans Administration numbers and correspondence.

He conceded the commission earlier this week granted his firm a portion of its request on an emergency, temporary basis. But he said the pending bill "might dictate that the emergency rates which they (the commission) recognized were desperately needed could not be continued." Smart said Edison's rates are "right in the middle" of those charged by other utilities in Ohio.

I. John Reimers, lobbyist for the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, and John Coleman, executive director of the Ohio Municipal League, gave support to a Rhodes Administration bill that would expand Ohio's impacted cities law to provide exemptions to new or expanding industry—located in inner cities—from the state's intangible personal property tax.

Presently, the impacted cities law allows a tax break for real estate only. Under the pending measure, city legislative authorities could negotiate with developers for a full exemption for the first 12 years, and then renegotiate for a 50 per cent exemption the next eight years. Rhodes said the bill is needed for Ohio to retain its present industries and to compete with other states in the fight for new plants and payrolls.

The problem is expected to be reviewed further by the governor in a speech he has asked to deliver to a joint session next Tuesday. As of today, however, Democratic leaders, skeptical that the GOP governor's motives are political, had not said they would arrange the joint session.

They said Rhodes tried to embarrass the legislature in an earlier speech.

Policeman In Jail

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Cincinnati policeman was ordered jailed for contempt until Monday when the trial of Nathaniel Dixon was scheduled to resume.

Dixon, 23, is charged with aggravated murder and rape in the March 8 death of Verlene Jackson, 45. Police said the victim was tortured and raped.

The trial was interrupted Thursday after Cincinnati Patrolman Joseph Collini failed to appear to testify for the prosecution.

Hamilton County Common Pleas Judge Frank M. Gusweiler ordered Collini jailed for contempt.

The judge made no provision for bond for Collini who turned himself in to Cincinnati police.

The prosecution had planned to conclude its case Thursday.

Four other persons have already been convicted in the slaying.

Collini was one of two officers called to the assault scene prior to Mrs. Jackson's death. The officers had left after being told the victim had fallen while drinking. She died later in the day, police said.

Gerhardt To Attend OSBA Conference

Richard L. Gerhardt, Pickaway County Prosecuting attorney, will attend a 3-day conference sponsored by the Ohio State Bar Association to help plan future direction for the legal profession. The conference will be held Sept. 16, 17, 18.

This is OSBA's second long range planning conference.

Contractors To Meet

There will be a meeting of the Tri County Contractors Assn. beginning 7 p.m. Thursday at R & N Steele's.

constitutional amendment permitting the legislature to set aside six per cent of the state's general revenue fund to issue bonds—without voter approval—for capital construction projects.

Proponents claim it would permit Ohio to construct highways, buildings, and other improvements on an orderly basis without endangering its financial situation or requiring repeated trips to the polls to try to sell voters on individual projects already agreed to by their elected representatives.

Hearings on all the measures are expected to resume early next week.

which are used to determine salary range from the smallest, Vinton, where the sheriff, for instance, would be raised from $7,900 to $12,000, to Cuyahoga, where the same official would get a boost from $23,000 to $27,500.

Rep. Anthony J. Celebrezze Jr., D-25 Cleveland, sponsored the amendment which took out the proposed cost of living increases ranging from $750 to $1,000 in the eight top salary classifications.

The Cuyahoga County lawmaker said he was "not ready" to provide automatic increases for county officers and thus forego the legislature's right to set salaries on a continuing basis. His amendment, if it remains in the bill, would nullify cost living increases which were included in the 1975 auditor's pay increase bill, he said.

Deering objected to the Celebrezze amendment and indicated he will seek to have the affected language restored, in a Senate-House conference committee if necessary. "That was a main thrust of the bill, to help the local officials who are hurt by inflation," he said.

The legislature, when it enacted the auditor's bill which for the first time sought to put automatic increases into county pay scales, received an attorney general's opinion saying they could do so if the scales were "established in the law before the terms of office begin." The concept never has been tested in the courts, however.

The Senate committee adopted a pair of other amendments before recommending passage 7-0. One beefs up a prohibition against coercion of county employees to contribute to political "flower funds," and the other rearranges population brackets to hike the increases sought for officers in Hocking, Morrow, Carroll, Wyandot, Holmes and Union counties.

Payrolls Up For Ohioans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Metal products firms and automobile producers led a 10 per cent increase in worker payroll advances in the state in July.

Researchers at Ohio State University, reporting the increase Wednesday, also said payrolls were 10 per cent higher for the first seven months of the year, compared to the same period in 1975.

Production worker employment rose 1 per cent from July 1975, according to the university's Center for Business and Economic Research.

Leading the payroll advances were metal products firms, up 28 per cent, and vehicles, up 22 per cent. Rubber producer payrolls dropped 22 per cent, caused in part by a rubber workers strike that began in April. Lumber products firms were off 21 per cent.

Personnel Main Topic Of Logan Elm Board

The Logan Elm School Board met in regular session Thursday evening to accept personnel resignations and employment, hear reports and approve contracts.

The resignation of Robert Young was accepted. After driving a bus for 31 years, the board adopted a resolution commending him for excellent driving.

Resignations of two other bus drivers, Jean Cassell and Sam Dernberger were accepted.

Part time secretary Cathy Valentine resigned and Carol Bowling's contract was changed from full to part time teaching.

Three full time bus drivers and two substitutes were employed, as well as three part time lunchroom workers. Five teachers aids were reemployed.

Learning disability tutor Sharon Pritchard's contract was approved for one year.

The following supplementary contracts were approved by the board: Nancy Dettra, additional kindergarten section; John Corcoran, junior high football coach and Clayton Starh, seventh grade basketball. Marcella Maughmer was hired as secretary to the superintendent.

The substitute teacher list was approved by the board and all subsequent lists submitted this year by the county superintendent.

The code of student conduct providing minimum due process for student suspension or expulsion was approved. It is in compliance with house bill 421.

A transportation report for the year was read to the board. The number of bus routes total 54 for the year, and 2,400 students are transported daily. The yearly average cost per student is $71.19.

Three additional reports were heard by the board on the metropolitan educational council, guidance counselor's project and maintenance and repairs.

Board members present were Don Bower, Virginia Wood, Roger Hobbie, Frank Seimer, and Robert Bowers. Coordinator Opal Sims was also present.

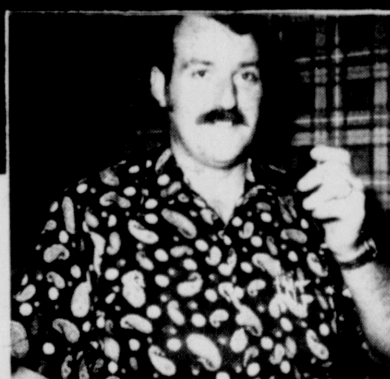

The next board meeting is scheduled for Oct. 4 at 7:30 p.m.
